Trustees to Discuss New School

Inland Valley Facility Topic of Special Meet

The proposed Inland Valley Intermediate School will be the main subject of discussion at a special meeting of the board of trustees of the Orinda Union School District at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Joseph L. Sheaff, district superintendent, said he will present a progress and status report on the district's application and plans for the proposed new seventh and eighth grade facility.

The State Allocations Board meets earlier Tuesday, and Sheaff said it is possible the district office will have a report on the state board's action on the request in time for the special meeting.

IF THE STATE ACTION is taken and reported in time and the school board discussion determines that plans for the new school should proceed immediately, Sheaff said he will ask for authorization to call for bids on the project as soon as possible.

The school board decided to construct the new intermediate school on the same site as the Inland Valley School, which will be ready for use next month, after it became necessary to scrap plans for the Wagner Ranch School.

School board members asked for bids on the Wagner Ranch School about a month ago, but the bids which were submitted were too high for consideration.

SHEAFF SUGGESTED the Inland Valley Intermediate School construction because it could be done with available funds and would help solve some of the student population problems of the district.

The school would join the Pine Grove School as the district's only intermediate facilities. All other schools in the district are kindergarten through sixth grade facilities.

Tuesday night's special meeting will also mark the first gathering of the district's newly-appointed building committee, which is designed to assist the school board in determining school sites and other building problems.

Members of the committee, suggested last month by Trustee Philip Bush, are Frances Tobias, Herbert Nilmeier, R. W. Roth, Victor Kingston and J. A. Felchlin.

SELECTED STUDENTS are given the opportunity to discuss problems of interest with leading scientists in the Miramonte Science Seminar, the unique project at Miramonte High School. Guest speaker at last week's opening meeting of the local seminar was Dr. Glenn Seaborg, chancellor of the University of California's Berkeley campus, shown here lending a little light on a problem posed by Michael Wilber (left) and Tom Hutton, two of the participants in the seminar.

The Spanking Policy...

Spanking Policy Of Orinda School Is Long Standing

The Orinda Union School District's policy on corporal punishment has been in effect since 1953, but it has never been used by a teacher or administrator, according to Joseph Sheaff, superintendent.

The Orinda district renewed its policy on "physical punishment" in January of this year, but, Sheaff said, we do not expect the board to act on the recent rulings of the state legislature.

"It has been our policy that the classroom teacher maintains discipline," Sheaff commented.

"And, it has been authorized by the school board that reasonable physical restraint and reasonable physical punishment may be administered by the teacher under the supervision of the principal.

"We do not foresee any changes in this policy," Sheaff concluded.

CORPORAL PUNISHMENT in schools is one of the most widely discussed items today. Although many schools have adopted policies regarding spanking of students, none has the "old fashioned out in the woodshed" attitude as depicted in this picture. For full details, read the summary of school policies on corporal punishment in this issue. —Sun photo by Bob Rush.

Acalanes Board Approves Policy About Spanking

Trustees of the Acalanes Union High School District adopted a regulation Monday night authorizing the administering of corporal punishment to the district's students.

The regulation complies with a new requirement of the State Education Code, adopted at the last session of the legislature.

UNDER THE NEW state code section, all governing school boards are required to "adopt rules and regulations authorizing certified personnel to administer corporal punishment when such action as deemed as appropriate corrective measure."

Neil Parsons, district superintendent, pointed out that although "it has never been against state law to spank students," the Acalanes district has never had a policy on the matter.

The Acalanes policy provides for corporal punishment to be administered only by principals and deans. An administrator, teacher or dean must personally witness the administering of the punishment, and when such a disciplinary action is taken, the superintendent must be notified immediately and a written report concerning the matter must be forwarded to him later.

ALTHOUGH THE regulation precludes teachers from administering corporal punishment, there is a provision in the regulation allowing instructors to "take hold of a pupil if the occasion should warrant."

Parsons explained this differential by pointing out that students sometimes become involved in fights and to separate them it is necessary for someone to "take hold of" the students.

Woman Offers Remains for $10,000 Cash

Hoping to finance the further education of her children, a Pleasant Hill housewife has offered her head and body (post mortum) to science for $10,000 in cash—payment due immediately upon contractural agreement.

Mrs. Bonnie Greelman, 27, of 3249 Sun Valley Avenue, Walnut Creek, said, "I think the local public schools are the best in the state, but my children could use special classes, perhaps in foreign languages. And those extra things cost money.

So far, Mrs. Greelman, who placed a classified ad offering her remains after death in a San Francisco daily newspaper, has received only a few calls, some of them from cranks.

She said, "I suppose that only a school, perhaps devoted to research would be a logical applicant, since the delay might be prohibitive for the individual."

"I have been misunderstood by some people who heard I am interested in para-psychology, extra sensory perception. As far as I am concerned, this has nothing to do with after-death communications.

"Also, my husband does not consider this a joke, and he is interested in this. If a contract were signed he would also have to sign it."

Mrs. Greelman's children are Linda, 11, Billy, 7, David, 5, and Lisa, 3. Her husband, William, works in a sporting goods store in Oakland. The family moved to this area about a month ago.

She got the idea of selling her remains after hearing about an Oakland man, Walter Tinageo, who is offering to sell his head for $15,000. He has been ill with a nervous disease, and believes his head would be of value for research.

Orinda Boy Needs Blood To Fight Rare Disease

By LARRY GLAZIER

Two miracles within the last week have saved the life a critically ill Orinda lad, and his parents, friends and neighbors are praying for a third miracle which will keep the boy on the road to recovery.

Accomplishing the next phase of the child's recovery may be a little more difficult, however, because it will require the assistance of many persons who can and will donate blood to the Alameda-Contra Costa Counties Blood Bank.

THE LAD, JODY Raymond, is the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Raymond, 11 Valley View Drive, Orinda.

He is in serious condition at Herrick Memorial Hospital in Berkeley, suffering from a very rare form of aplastic anemia, a blood disease, complicated by an infection resulting from a blood transfusion.

Jody's bone marrow has been extensively damaged by the disease and, because the marrow is the producer of a human's blood, his blood supply has been greatly decreased.

HEMORRHAGING caused by the serious infectoin set Jody back a bit — to the point where five additional blood transfusions were necessary during his two-week stay at the Berkeley hospital.

But the boy's mother, who is sleeping in his hospital room every night, reported late this week that "Jody is fighting a good hard battle, and he is showing a lot of courage."

The story of Jody's illness goes back to September 28, when Mrs. Raymond noticed that the lad's coloring was not right and he appeared ill.

JODY'S ILLNESS was diagnosed quickly as a form of anemia brought on by a reaction to an antibiotic which he had been receiving during the period of about a year for an ear infection.

The next day, September 29, Jody and his family were enroute to the famed Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota, where the Raymonds remained until October 20 while Jody was examined and treated.

For the first 11 days after Jody returned to his Orinda home everything went well and he received the necessary transfusions to keep him going.

JODY IS MORE prone to infection, however, and on Halloween Day — October 31, Mrs. Raymond discovered that her son was suffering from an infection in his finger — an infection later diagnosed as resulting from a transfusion administered in an Oakland hospital.

The boy was hospitalized immediately, but the infection nevertheless continued its spread into his arm.

Mrs. Raymond now attributes Jody's recovery from the critical period of last weekend to the "two miracles" — the controlling of the infection itself and the stoppage of hemorrhaging.

SHE SAID the lad set some sort of record for children his age in that he received 30 million units of penecillin per day to counteract the infection.

The third "miracle," according to the courageous mother, is the reformation of Jody's bone marrow.

Until that time — a moment which may be weeks or even months away — the boy's chances of staying healthy are entirely dependent on an adequate supply of blood.

RIGHT NOW, the Oakland blood bank has a good stockpile so that the emergency is not great, but, according to Mrs. Mary Stanley, one of the Raymonds' neighbors, "It's beter to have too much blood than not enough when you need it."

Persons, regardless of their blood type, who wish to donate for Jody's credit, may call Mrs. Stanley, CL 4-4720, or the blood bank, OLympic 4-2924. It is necessary to have an appointment at the bank, which is located at 6230 Claremont Avenue, Oakland, Mrs. Stanley said.

Jody was a very healthy boy and was a second grader at the Del Rey School until struck by the rare and sometimes fatal disease about six weeks ago.

MRS. RAYMOND said he has had some trouble with his ears for about two years, and about a year ago began receiving the antibiotic to help the ear infection.

The boy's second grade classmates at Del Rey have rallied to his side during the illness, she reported. While the Raymonds were at the Mayo Clinic, Jody received an individual letter from each one of his classmates, and the same procedure was repeated at Herrick Hospital Tuesday night.

Jody's family—his father is director of development for the Shell Development Company in Emeryville—has lived in Orinda for eight years.

A TOKEN OF the type of friendship Jody has acquired in his neighborhood was evidenced Halloween night, when all of the neighbor children—hearing about the new infection which felled their friend—collected treats for Jody as they went their merry rounds.

The lad has a sister, Kathy, 14, and two brothers, Richard, 17, and Charles, 20.

Garden Club to Meet Wednesday

The monthly meeting of the Hilltop Garden Club of Orinda will be held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Thomas Cullen, 21 Las Vegas.

Mrs. Robert Lester will be co-hostess.

Petitions Will Be Passed by Design Project

Plans to obtain 500 signatures on petitions opposing the continued deterioration of Lafayette's business district were formulated at a special meeting of the Design Project last Saturday morning.

In addition to leaders of the Design Project, including Stewart Wade and Mrs. William Chilcote, those who attended the meeting were:

MR. AND MRS. James R. Moore; Mrs. William Freeman; Mrs. J. Gordon Holmes; Mrs. Joseph Connelly and Mrs. Paul Pollaczek of the California Garden Clubs, Inc., of Orinda; Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Lund; and Mrs. Earl Plescia; Mrs. C. E. Keathley and Mrs. V. E. Bacon, all of the Lafayette Women's Club.

The group discussed the cluttered and rundown appearance of the downtown district, and what steps could be taken to combat the situation.

Suggestions which were made included plantings in planter boxes or tubs in the downtown sector and an overall clean up and weeding program.

INITIAL PLANS for a community-wide clean up program co-sponsored by the Women's Club and the Lafayete Junior Chamber of Commerce were reported.

The long range zoning policies of the Orinda Neighborhood Business District and its makeup were also discussed, with the hope that sometime soon a similar organization might be established in the Lafayette area.

Perc Brown Bows Out as Orinda Library Leader

The following is the text of a letter from Perc S. Brown, who resigned last month as president of the Orinda Library Board.

As president of the board, Brown led a drive to raise funds for a new library building for the community—a drive which was climaxed by the opening, a year ago this week, of the new Orinda Library, located at 2 Irwin Way.

BROWN'S LETTER FOLLOWS:

"Having completed the task I undertook early in 1956 to raise the necessary funds to build and equip a fine community library—in its initial phase—for Orinda, I resigned, as previously scheduled, at our annual meeting of membership last month.

"Of course, my deep interest in its continued development to meet community needs will continue.

"SINCE THE NEW library was opened in November, 1958, the circulation has zoomed and this factor coupled with the steadily increasing population will, before too long, dictate increased facilities.

"An arm of the Orinda Library Board named "Friends of the Orinda Library" has been formed and that group, as well as the Orinda Library Board itself, is in extremely capable hands, devoted to the creation and maintenance of whatever facilities are needed, as they are needed.

"During the three and a half year period the writer was actively engaged on this project, the Orinda Sun, Mr. and Mrs. Silverman and all the staff with whom I came in contact, gave the Orinda Library Board, the Library Building Fund and the writer, the utmost possible support, and the purpose of this letter is to express, on behalf of those groups, the Orinda community and myself personally, deep appreciation and sincere thanks for unwavering and very helpful support."

Dr. Arnon Speaks Before Local Science Seminar

Dr. Daniel Arnon, professor of plant physiology at the University of California at Berkeley, spoke to the students of the Miramonte Science Seminar Wednesday at Miramonte High School on the topic, "Our Changing Ideas on Photosynthesis."

Dr. Arnon is a leading authority on the nutrition of green plants, photosynthesis and photosynthesis from a chemical viewpoint.

DR. ARNON WAS a Guggenheim fellow at Cambridge from 1947-1948 and a Fulbright scholar to Germany in 1955 and 1956. He is also a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. Rudolf Grah, of the forestry department of the University of Calofornia, as group leader of the life science field, was in charge of Wednesday night's program and introduced Dr. Arnon to the students.

Both the parents of the students selected for this seminar and all the scientists participating in the program were invited to be present at this meeting.

AFTER THE TALK by Dr. Arnon and the discussion period following the lecture, the meeting became informal with the students, parents and scientists meeting each other and talking together during a refreshment period.

David Puddy Ends Army Food Course

Army Pvt. David R. Puddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Puddy, 24 N. Wood Drive, completed the food service course at Fort Ord recently.

Puddy received training in cooking, baking, meat cutting and operating a field kitchen.

Candidates for Directorships

All candidates for the Orinda Association's five expiring directorships will be introduced at the regular meeting of the association's civic affairs committee at 8 p.m. Monday in the Orinda School.

The only change in candidates since last week was the dropping out of Odie Monahan as a hopeful for President Donald M. Anderson's seat in favor of John P. Chancey, 2 Tumbling Brook Road.

MEMBERS OF THE civic affairs committee will also consider nominations for a new chairman of the committee, replacing Fire Marshal William Koch.

The association's ballot, certified Monday at a special meeting of the board of directors, will be mailed to all members about November 27.

Ballots must be returned to the association's secretary by December 10, and the new directors of the group will take office January 1.

Chet Clark Is Injured

Chester Clark, 43, of 12 Las Vegas, co-owner of Black's Market, is recovering from serious injuries he sustained early last Friday in a one-car accident near his home.

Clark is in Merritt Hospital, Oakland, where he is being treated for a fractured jaw and some broken ribs.

THE CALIFORNIA Highway Patrol reported that Clark's late model auto ran off the roadway and struck a telephone pole on Las Vegas, about 150 feet north of Via Las Cruces.

A rescue unit from the Orinda Fire Protection District performed first aid at the scene and took Clark to Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek, and the Orindan was later transferred to the Oakland facility.

According to the highway patrol, there were no witnesses, and there is no prosecution anticipated against Clark.

Richard Purvis to Give Organ Concert Tuesday

A public concert featuring organist Richard I. Purvis will highlight the services dedicating the new organ at Orinda Community Church Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Included in the program will be the composition "The Wistful Shepherd" by Frederick Freeman of Walnut Creek.

OTHER SELECTIONS will be "Now Thank We All Our God" by Karg-Elert, "Sheep May Safely Graze" and "Toccata, Adagio and Fugue" by Bach, "Caprice for Clock Organ" by Haydn, "Air for Solo Flute" by Arne, "Les Fifres" by d'Andrieu, "Concerto V" by Handel, two chorale preludes by Brahms and "Sketch in D flat" by Schumann.

Purvis will conclude his concert with four compositions by himself, "Les Petites Cloches," "Forest Green," "Capriccio on the Notes of the Cuckoo" and "In Babilone."

The program has been designed especially by Purvis to demonstrate the outstanding versatility and colorful qualities of this new organ.

THE ORGAN WAS built in West Germany to specifications prepared by Pacific Organ Builders of Berkeley. It includes 6010 pipes and a twin-manual console and is housed in a spectacular sanctuary of contemporary design recently completed.

The dedication service will be under the direction of the Reverend Chauncey Blossom and the church's music committee.

Lights, Kids and Helpful Orindans

It's pretty hard to play football at night unless you have a well-lighted field.

And it's pretty hard—if you're a high school youngster—to play football in the afternoon when everybody else is playing at night.

All we're saying is that Orinda has another need—lights for the Miramonte High School football field.

ORINDA IS AN exceedingly generous community. You, as residents, have done a wonderful job on such things as the Orinda Library and the pool at Miramonte.

Therefore, we're a little reticent about suggesting that you dig down into your Saturday jeans and come up with funds for these lights.

But we do think that as a community project sometime in the future, this should have priority.

Community effort has erected lights at our other high schools in Pleasant Hill, Walnut Creek, Lafayette and San Ramon.

IN FACT, THIS is a timely comment because the lights from Seals Stadium will be available, and thus Miramonte could be lighted at great saving.

Las Lomas and Pleasant Hill obtained their lights from the old Oaks ball park in Oakland, and they found that it was a much cheaper operation than starting from scratch.

So we would like to offer this idea for community consideration. You can rest assured that the youngsters will thank you.

And Orindans will again have the opportunity to prove that they belong to a truly generous community.

THESE MIRAMONTE High School students will be among those benefiting from the local school's American Field Service chapter collection of nearly $2000 over the Hallowe'en weekend—a record drive for the area. They are the candidates for the AFS's programs next year. From left to right around the table are Lynn Loveland, Jim Gilwee, Sue Dunshee, Nelle Neighbor and Diane Kersten. Watching over their shoulders as the candidates ifll out their questionnaires are Suzanne Lindsay (left), president of the high school group, and Jan Miller.—Sun photo by Mattson.

Autumn leaves

The countryside, wrapped in autumn splendor. . . Take a drive, or a bike or a hike & don't be in a hurry for a change. Some of the things we pass by everyday, always too rushed to observe.

Like the spun-gold colors of the foliage right in our own neck of the woods. . . The whispering campaign of the maple leaves, crisp like the sound of rustling taffeta petticoats.

THE DRIVE from Inspiration Point out of Tilden is breath-taking. Ditto the trek over the freeway to San Pablo & most breath-taking of all, the silhouette of Orinda's hills & houses as you come back towards our area from that sector.

OVER in Sleepy Hollow, the poplars are shivering in their new shoots, their leaves having loosened to carpet the roadways. At the Walter Boysen's, the leaves even FALL into place & up the street at the Joe & Jean Downs', the driveway is a pure path of gold. Mother Nature's fall fashions are too eye-rewarding to let slip by. Have yourself a good look next time you're out!

AUTUMN LEAVES was the appropriate opening number for the Miramonte Band at the annual Mirama theme "The Gay Fifty Niners" & held Tue. nite in the school auditorium. Sharing MC duties were Jeff Neieghbor & Mario Guarneri, who together w/Don Minor took over the bass, trumpet & drums for jazz music-breaks between acts.

A wall-to-wall crowd audience, appreciative & applauding, calling for many encores from the entertainers. . . Carol McColl in a monologue. . . The oom-pah-pah strains of the comical Sauerbrauten Band. . . Ruth Thompson singing Oklahoma's "I Cain't Say No" number accompanied by Nelle Neighbor.

IT WAS A GRAND NIGHT FOR Singing. . . The Mixed Chorus on "Anchors Aweigh," the Girls' Glee, "It's A Grand Night For Singing," the Choir doing "Once In Love With Amy" w/3 talented young ladies dancing Ray-Bolger style in straw hats & suits.

You're getting to be a habit with me!

John Calderwood's Gershwin Medley on the Grand incl. Summertime, I Got Plenty of Nuthin'. . . INTERMISSION glimpses. . . . The Stan Hunns w/their boys, Lid Miles introducing Enrico, their AFS guest, Chuck & Lois Flenner. . . Fran Newman heading for home to catch husband Frank on a Channel 9 Panorama News interview, the program having been earlier taped & Frank flying to NY THAT night on business for the Ford Foundation.

Opening the second part of the show, a trip. "The Trinidads" comprised of Rollin Mac, Charles Blue & Bob Davis brought the house down w/their singing of Cindy, Diana & Blue Eyes. (We know more than one MOTHER who left the show w/the idea of asking Santa for bongo drums.) Voices & instruments, the boys were terrific!

"Hey Charlie," a spoof of the Charleston era coched by Sylvia Bolman, had Robert Boyle, Squire Fridell, Jerilynn Baniats, Enid Hennessy, Sally Holabird as its participants. More in the manner of the Roaring 20's were Vicki McCosker, Kurt Lundblad, Katy McQuaid, Dick Miller & Skip Nelson.

Following a flute solor of "Bewitched, Bothered & Bewildered" by Barbara Bergen accompanied by Carol Harmon, the evening came to an end w/Guest Artist Donna Petersen doing selection from Kismet & Brigadoon.

SPECIAL KUDOS to the kids behind the scenes—On Lights & Sound, Mr. M. Davis, Tom Heiser, Rich Harrington & Bob Jones. Not to mention the show's director Mr. Gordon Mallory of the Music. Dept.

Coffee dispensed later in the cafeteria. . . Sylvia Howes in her band uniform carrying the silver Glockenspeil. . . Gertrude Ogden in an eye-catching Norwegian knit sweater. . . THE WORDS sounded old-fashioned but the tune was that Rock 'n Roller & the little man singing it aloud to himself in the Ground Cow had changed the lyrics to "I Wanna Be A Hot Dog Man."

Wed. nite Lucie Ann Hupp, who becomes Mrs. Rolf Williams on Thanksgiving Eve, was showered at a surprise party co-hostessed by Pat Whitehead, Nancy Long.

The Volney Plumbs there from Ygnacio Valley. . . . Lucille & Walt Ruedrich (she's Lois Denning's sis) & their two, MaryAnne & Wally (he looked like a real sailor in nautical white) were on hand. As the new boat was eased into the waters, top-heavy w/young fry, the Denning's young son Robby fell into the water just to make things really official! Bob & Dorothy Bardell were there, too, to join in the sink-or-float celebration. And it looks like it's all set for a sail-to Acapulco, which is what Jim has in mind. After he takes care of one small leak!

Architect Lee Darrow, who's been on the celebrity treadmill since his Mill Valley-designed home won status w/Sunset, has w/his Pat, been getting away from it all at The Vagabond House in Carmel which wife Pat's mother now owns.

IT LOOKED LIKE the League of Nations at Diablo Sat. nite for the Jr. League's "Internat'l Night". Guests were bid "Welcome" or "Valkommen" in all foreign languages & tiny flags from Around The World fluttered at tables & in the foyer. Highlight of the black-tie evening was a style showing of the fabulous world-wide wardrobe collected by Nancy Cooke de Huerara, local leaguers Patsy Ruth French & Caroline Havre among these modeling esp. sumptuous evening gowns.

Arriving together from early potables at the Peter Leys were the Pierre Pelissiers, John & Louise Clark of Lafayette (they arrived at the Leys via the hole-in-the-backfence route, tux, formal & all, having first dropped in at Jody & Bill Allen's canape conclave next-door), the Hans Sterns, the Holman Pettibores, Middleton O'Briens, (they're newcomers to Las Vegas in Orinda) & Sally Bertino & her medic husband Joe.

From an early sipping & dipping at the Laf. home of Phil & Jean Angell came the Robert Leefeldts, the Robert Weeks & Jack Danas who took dinner together.

Dancing to Dick Dildine's music. . . The Lloyd Swaynes. . . pres. Mary Alice Townsend, a NEW Orindan, whirling the floor. . . A Galanos silhouette of periwinkle blue on Kay McLaren. . . Comps for Louise Clark's black & gold sequin purchased in Mexico City.

(The fashion notes eye-spied for us by Jody Allen who was a former fashion copyist for The White House).

At Ginnie & Oliver Hamlin's large table were the George (David) Simpsons, the Richard Wards, junior Ralph Hoyts, the Hamlin's having hosted earlier toasts at their Laf. home. MANY Greetings for the newlywed Carl Rosses (Marilyn Mason) who are ensconced in their FIRST home in Lafayette since their recent marriage.

Shock Keeps From Death

A tiny electronic machine, transferring tiny shocks to electrodes imbedded in his heart, keeps Kenneth Chandler, 37, of Walnut Creek, alive.

The machine, called a "pacemaker," is strapped to his waist, sending out 60 almost unnoticeable impulses per minute.

The two electrodes, attached to one of the heart's pumping chambers, prevent what Dr. William Wierich of the University of California Medical Center, calls a "heart block" where the pumping chambers lose their synchronization and beat erratically.

UNTIL THE device was "installed," Chandler, a heart murmur patient most of his life, faced death within a few weeks.

He then became what is believed one of the first men in the United States to be saved by such a machine.

Every 400 hours, its batteries must be changed, and this is a job for his wife, Joan, who has learned to do it within a few seconds.

"WHO SEZ FRIDAY, the 13th brings bad luck?" this happy resident seems to be saying as he pets his favorite black cat. Well, we hope things don't go too badly today for you—but we're not taking any chances at all. Hand me my rabbit's foot, friend!

Planning Staff Explains Proposal For Industry

The staff of the county planning department, in a prepared release, has publicly answered critics of the proposed precise zoning for the Moraga area.

Last week, Second District Supervisor Mel Nielsen issued a public statement supporting the zoning plan, which is due to be finally adopted by the county planning commission later this month before going to the board of supervisors.

IN ITS STATEMENT dated Wednesday, the planning staff said:

"It has come to the attention of the county planning department that misstatements have been and are being made regarding the controlled manufacturing restrictions when the subject of the proposed Moraga zoning has been under discussion at various meetings."

The area proposed by the county planning commission to be zoned controlled manufacturing in Moraga consists of approximately 160 acres located south of the proposed Shepherd Canyon Freeway and lying generally west of the existing Moraga townsite.

STAFF MEMBERS SAID the controlled manufacturing restrictions adopted by the board of supervisors in January, 1955, were added to Zoning Ordinance No. 382 at that time.

The department's statement quoted the following from the zoning ordinance:

"The purpose of this land use district is to set up certain restrictions and conditions which will be compatible with adjacent residential areas, both as to appearance and type of industries."

USES ALLOWED UNDER the restrictions are agricultural, administrative and professional offices and "the following and similar uses which shall be planned, developed, conducted and operated in such a manner that noise, smoke, dust, odors and waste of any kind is confined and/or purified so as to control pollution of air, soil or water to meet the standards or requirements of the planning commission and in such a manner as to eliminate any detrimental effect to the public health, safety and welfare and be in harmony with the objectives of the master plan."

These additional uses include research laboratories and institutes; electronic products manufacturing; electrical products and instrument manufacturing; bookbinding, printing and lithography; cortagraphy; editorial and designing; photographic printing, finishing and processing.

Also household pottery; plastic fabrication; storage warehouses, excluding inflammable fluids, explosives and truck terminals; finished paper products; garment manufacturing; furniture upholstering; laundry and dry cleaning plants.

"OTHER USES similar to the above, provided that it can be demonstrated that said uses are of the same general character as the above permitted uses and the planning commission finds on application for land use permit that the proposed use will not be detrimental to the health, safety and general welfare of the area and the county as a whole, that the proposed use is in the spirit of the zoning ordinance and is in harmony with the objectives of the master plan."

Other controlled manufacturing restrictions noted by the planning staff are:

Lot area — Minimum of 40,000 square feet, with an average width of 120 feet; building height —two stories, not exceeding 35 feet; yards—minimum side yards of 20 feet except on external boundaries adjacent to residential zones, where the minimum shall be 50 feet, a landscaped strip of at least five feet required.

SETBACK — MINIMUM of 50 feet and to be landscaped for a minimum depth of 30 feet; lot coverage—only 30 per cent of the lot to be covered by buildings allowed; off-street parking requirement—two spaces for each three employees; sign control — must pertain to operation or service of industry, restrictions as to size and placement; manufacturing and storage areas—all manufacturing shall be conducted within buildings, all storage areas shall

Professor's Trip To Russia Will Be Meeting Topic

Dr. Robert Karplus, professor of physics at the University of California and an Orinda resident, will speak to the Orinda-Moraga Democratic Club on Friday, November 20, at 8 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jewel. 67 Camino Don Miguel.

His topic will be "A Visit to Soviet Russia," and he will show the slides he took this summer when he visited Russia with a group of U. S. physicists.

ALL DEMOCRATS are invited to attend. For further information, call Mrs. Robert Hill, DRake 6-5514.

Dr. Robert Hill, president, announced that the club is also planning a series of discussion groups in the fields of foreign policy, economics and government and human rights.

This program is being carried out by all Democratic Clubs in California, with the dual goals of producing an informed electorate and also as the local step preliminary to a statewide issues conference to be held in February.

ALL DEMOCRATS are invited to participate, and those interested should call the chairman of the group they wish to join:

Foreign policy, Paul Polloczek, CL 4-5248; economics and government, Chet Brisco, CL 4-2569; and human rights, Dr. Milt Waldman, CL 4-4554, or Richard Leland, CL 4-2164.

Dr. Wendorf Will Discuss District Guidance Plan

Dr. Robert Wendorf, guidance consultant for the Acalanes High School District, will be the featured speaker Monday for the school and community welfare committee of the Miramonte Parents' Club, according to Mrs. Richard Leland, chairman.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. L. Kocker at 11 Van Tassel Lane. Refreshments will be served at 12:30 p.m., under the direction of Mrs. Harold Hafner.

DR. WENDORF will speak on "The District Guidance Program and Its Services." He will tell of the effectiveness of the cooperation of students, parents and schools in the area of guidance counseling.

The position which he holds was created this year so that the programs of the different schools in the district could be better coordinated and so that better service could be offered to the students in the solution of their problems.

The Miramonte Science Seminar, which has been successfully started by the community and school, is the outgrowth of a program of this group last year.

OTHER TANGIBLE evidence of the effectiveness of the group are the Orinda Work Education Program of last summer and the Teen-Age Conduct Code, both of which were extensions of programs first presented in this committee.

All mothers of high school students are invited to attend the meeting Monday. Miss Naomi Giddings, dean of girls, will be present to answer any questions which may concern Miramonte High School.

Plan Sale Event

Orinda Cub Pack 57 will stage a "Country Store Night" at its meeting at Miramonte High School Tuesday evening.

Costumes, decorations, games and a silent auction of white elephants will be featured.

Dens will compete for prizes for the best store and the most money raised in the auction, according to Ted Windle, chairman of the event.

New boys welcomed into Pack 57 last month are Steven Serr, Jeffrey Blanc, Tom Andres, Ronald Glaeser, Gordon Massie, Bill Mutch and Andy Wistrich.

Letters to The Editor

APPRECIATION EXPRESSED

Dear Editor:

In behalf of the Miramonte Teen-Age Code Committee of the Orinda Mothers' Club, may we express our grateful appreciation:

1. To the Orinda Sun for the splendid publicity that they have given to the progress and the final passing of the "Teen-Age Code" by the Miramonte student body.

2. TO JAMES LEWIS, faculty advisors, officers and members of the student council, for their consideration and recommendation of this code.

3. To the group of students who put in hours of work in the actual writing of the code before its approval.

4. To the student body of Miramonte High School for the mature thinking they have shown in accepting these guiding principles written by their fellow students as a behavior code.

5. TO THE MOTHERS' Club Committee: Mrs. R. Grah, in charge of publicity; Mrs. R. Leland, mothers' club president; Mrs. R. Stark, Mrs. A. McLeod and Mrs. G. Clifford who have been most helpful to me as chairman.

6. To Bela Clark who assisted so willingly as moderator of our discussion groups last year and to his wife, Mrs. Clark, for acting as recorder.

7. To faculty, parents and students who attended these discussion sessions.

We hope the code will be of immeasurable worth to our homes, our school and our community.

MRS. A. E. SYVERUD,
Chairman of teen-age code committee

HOW ABOUT US?

Dear Editor:

Does The Sun's practice of publishing four separate papers each week keep each edition's readers from learning of important and significant events in Central Contra Costa County? Or am I different from other readers in that, as an Orinda resident, I am interested in what goes on in Lafayette, Walnut Creek, or Pleasant Hill?

The specific case in point is the Orinda Sun's coverage of the Lafayette incorporation election. No major news story on the election was carried on the Friday before the election, and the election results didn't make the following edition at all.

Orinda went through the throes of an incorporation campaign two years ago, and many residents of our community became extremely interested in the subject. Sleepy Hollow residents have petitioned for an election to determine if incorporation is the best means of solving that area's local problems. The question of incorporation has been with us, and I suspect the subject may be brought up again some time.

In view of our previously expressed interest in the subject, isn't the Lafayette campaign newsworthy in Orinda? Does the $12,500 fire district suit really rate top billing two weeks in a row to the complete exclusion of the incorporation story?

Don Bandsmen Salute Sports

The Acalanes High School marching band, directed by Elvo D'Amante, will culminate its marching season tonight with a half-time extravaganza salute to the Dons' athletic department.

Theme of the half-time stunts will be "Sports on Parade," led by drum major Lorin Peters.

THE DON BAND will combine sports and music with formation as a goal post and then a basketball.

The band will also transform itself from a "liniment bottle" to a "loving cup" symbolizing Acalanes' entry into the high school basketball Tournament of Champions last year at Berkeley.

The band members will simulate a baseball diamond fit for an evening of play by the Don majorettes.

BAND, CHEER LEADERS, majorettes and pom-pon girls will close with a tribute to the Acalanes High School athletic department and its coaching staff.

Highlights of the mid-game spectacular will be an exhibition of push-ball, a new sport developed at Acalanes by Charles Eaton, Acalanes field coach.

10-Point Case vs. Court Consolidation--Chamber

A 10-point case against consolidation of the Walnut Creek Judicial Court into the Concord Municipal Court was presented this week by the Walnut Creek Area Chamber of Commerce directors, who approved a resolution against the proposal.

The resolution was signed by Paul Tickner, Chamber president.

Factors in any such consolidation are as follows, say the directors:

1. LOSS OF political identification and recognition of one of the most rapidly expanding areas in the Bay Area and Northern California.

2. Inconvenience for the residents of the Walnut Creek Judicial District, and a reduction in services for these residents.

3. Questionable advisability of merging two of the largest Judicial Districts in Contra Costa County and leaving a number of much smaller Judicial Districts intact.

4. Financial. The Walnut Creek Judicial District, in the 1958-59 year, returned the highest net revenues to the County of Contra Costa of all districts in the County.

a. THE WALNUT CREEK Judicial District's net return of $58,901.72 was three times that of the next highest court's return.

b. This net return was slightly over eight times that of the return of the Concord Judicial District.

c. Ten of the County's 17 Judicial Districts showed a net over expenditures with an aggregate total of $115,562.50.

d. The net return, to the County, of the Walnut Creek Judicial District was 51 per cent of the aforementioned aggregate total.

e. The Walnut Creek Judicial District also had the highest gross revenues of all Districts, a total of $88,947.86, of County revenue.

f. In addition to the County revenues, the Walnut Creek Judicial District also returned $22,278.44 to the City and $8,661 to the State.

5. CASELOAD. The Walnut Creek Judicial District processed a caseload of 17,152 criminal and 1427 civil cases.

a. The District processed 1130 small claims cases. As the second largest retail shopping center in Contra Costa County, Walnut Creek is in great need of this service, and in a location effecting the greatest saving in time.

b. The District received 7680 parking citations, the great majority being issued in Walnut Creek which, as a large retail shopping center, requires the best possible service and convenience for the ticket holder.

c. The caseload reflects the need, in the district, for a centralized, efficient court.

6. A factor exists in increased cost to the City in removing from service Police Department personnel and equipment to travel to any court located out of the city.

7. THE FACTOR of a merger of the two large Districts necessitating acquisition, or construction, of a much larger court building with its attendant increased costs.

8. The Chamber of Commerce cannot visualize the "economy" effected by merging these two districts, but can visualize the extensive inconvenience factors and political identification import. Prior to consideration of the present proposal, it would seem more in order to evaluate all 17 County Districts to determine the possible economies in an overall consolidation study.

9. The Walnut Creek Judicial District has attained the population requirements for its own municipal court; the District's court is operating financially to a degree whereby it could assume municipal court status and still maintain its high ranking relative to net revenues returned to the County; elevation to Municipal Court status would result in additional income to the Walnut Creek court.

10. The interest of the residents of the Walnut Creek Judicial District, as evidenced since the merger proposal was publicized, indicates their desire to retain the present district and to look forward to elevation of their court to a Municipal Court.

Cub Pack Acts On Aesop Fables

Cub Scouts of Pack 207 presented a variety of puppet shows and a skit based on the fables of Aesop at their second meeting held at Glorietta School.

Some of the fables depicted were "The Country Mouse and the City Mouse," "Belling the Cat," "The Miller," "His Son and the Donkey" and "The Little Mouse and the Stranger."

Den 4 won the prize with their show of "Miss Goggins and the Gorilla," who, of course, were not characters of the old sage.

Bobcats welcomed by Akela (Harold Bowers) in ceremonial dress were Bruce Campbell, Tommy Thode, Dirk Miller and Fred Sigworth.

Awards were given to the following Cubs: (Den 1) Randy Andrada, Robert Denning, Jon Parisi; Bill Seifert and Al Stein; (Den 3) Jack Bowers, Doug Garoutte, Andy Cayting, Lee Currier, Steve Huntington (who made a record with one gold arrow and seven silver arrows) and Jim Schneider; (Den 5) Ken Semrau and David Hooker, (Den 8) Roy Bowers; and (Den 9) Ronald Ivy and Tim Mueller.

Local Methodist Church Names Young Minister

Reverend John L. Dodson has recently been appointed minister of the Methodist Church now being formed in the Orinda-Moraga area.

Reverend Dodson, a 1955 graduate of the University of California, took his training for the ministry at Garrett Biblical Institute in Evanston, Illinois.

A NATIVE OF OAKLAND, he was formerly youth director of St. Stephens Methodist Church there. He comes to his present assignment from Chicago, where he served as assistant pastor of a city church.

Reverend Dodson and his wife, the former Sue Edwards of Cincinnati, Ohio, are making their home at 3622A Mt. Diablo Boulevard in Lafayette.

Mrs. Dodson was until recently executive director of the Northwestern University YWCA. She completed studies for a Master's Degree in 1957 while her husband finished his ministerial studies.

THE SEVEN-ACRE site of the new church, on Moraga Highway in Orinda, will be consecrated in a special service there on Sunday, November 22, at 2:30 p.m.

Reverend Dodson expects to start regular worship services the following Sunday, November 29. Until church buildings can be completed, services are planned for Miramonte High School.

Anyone interested in the new church may contact Reverend Dodson at AT 3-2152.

China Official Will Be Speaker

Patrick Pichi Sun, consul general of China, will speak on "Free China" at the meeting of the Orinda Republican Women's Club Thursday at 10 a.m. at the Fellowship Hall of the Orinda Community Church.

Sun's talk will be illustrated by colored slides.

AS THIS WILL be the final meeting this year, the election and installation of the 1960 slate of officers for the club will be held. The membership will also vote on an amendment to the by-laws on raising the dues.

Complimentary child care from 9:45 to noon will be provided by Republican member Helene Klement at her home at 10 Valley View Road, off Miner Road.

Seven Jurors From Central County Area

Seven of 13 jurors in the Charles F. Cooper bribery trial are central county residents.

Four are from Pleasant Hill and three others from Lafayette.

Here is the official list:

Mrs. Eleanor M. Banks, 71 Marin Avenue, Pittsburg; Mrs. Frances A. Abel, 107 Cynthia Drive, Pleasant Hill; Joseph H. Unger, 394 Castella Road, Lafayette; Mrs. Fern R. MacNaughton, 101 Burns Court, Pleasant Hill; Mrs. Winifred Wetzel, 1801 Reliez Valley Road, Lafayette; Mrs. Gladys M. Wainwright, 133 Cody Lane, Pleasant Hill.

George C. Davis, 185 East 17th Street, Pittsburg; Mrs. Mary S. Bradshaw, 718 Second Avenue, Crockett; Mrs. Joan B. Arnett, 3486 Orchard Hill Court, Lafayette; Mrs. Wanda B. Howerton, 335 Sweeney Road, Antioch; Mrs. Onita L. Rand, 1930 Jeanette Drive, Pleasant Hill; Paul R. Wolford, 4163 Pickwick Drive, Concord.

In addition, at Judge Wakefield Taylor's request, an alternate juror was chosen, so that the trial could continue if one of the regular jurors became ill. The alternate juror is Charles A. Madison, 552 Palm Avenue, Martinez.

Jury selection consumed a day and a half. Nearly 50 prospective jurors were questioned before the 12 jurors and the alternate were finally chosen.

Acalanes Choir Will Take Part In UC Festival

The A Capella Choir of Acalanes High School will participate in the University of California's annual music festival at the Berkeley campus from 8 a.m. to noon tomorrow.

High schools from all over Northern California and as far south as Fresno will take part in the festival.

MEMBERS OF the local choir will perform three selections, including "Hodie, Christus Natus Est" by William; "Crucifixus" by Lotti, and "Beautiful Savior" by Christiansen. The latter selection includes a solo by Diane Luna.

The choir will meet early tomorrow morning and then will travel to Berkeley by bus.

Once at the university, the group will perform the three selections under the direction of Richard C. Hansen, Acalanes choir director.

A WELL KNOWN college choral director is assigned to each high school group, and he listens very closely and then assumes the directorship of the group. Last year, the Acalanes A Cappellans were led by Cliff Lawton, director of the Cal choir.

The college director rehearses the high school students on items they were performing wrong, such as tone quality and breathing.

All of the high school choirs are invited to a concert by the university glee club and the Treble Clef at the Greek Theater. Tomorrow afternoon the choir members will be guests at the California-Washington football game.

The Acalanes choir opened its 1959-60 season last week with an eight-selection program before the Walnut Creek Kiwanis Club at the Walnut Creek Woman's Clubhouse. The program was presented at the invitation of the Kiwanians.

What Will Be Next in This Electronic Age?

Del Valle High School is new in more ways than one.

Neil Parsons, superintendent of schools in the Acalanes Union High School District, reported to the district's board of trustees Monday night that the new Tice Valley facility is being used as the county's "guinea pig" in an experiment concerning electronic report cards.

The school opened its doors for the first time in September, and its only students are freshmen.

Parsons explained that next week, for the first time, the Del Valle students will receive their grades on machine-written IBM cards.

The county schools department is operating the machinery, he said, and it has been reported that the report cards can be filled out by the county and returned to the local district within one day.

Parsons said it is too early to tell how the new system will work, but that district officials will have some idea after the cards have been distributed next week.

Streptomycin, the first drug used successfully to treat TB, was discovered by Selman Waksman in 1944.

Bids Accepted For Acalanes Language Aids

Acalanes Union High School District trustees have accepted bids totaling $13,131 for language laboratory equipment to be used in the district's schools.

The bids, offered by the only manufacturers of the equipment, were submitted at Monday night's regular meeting of the board of trustees.

SLIGHTLY MORE than half of the cost will be paid by the district, and the remainder will be financed by the federal government under the National Defense Education Act.

Acalanes trustees recently applied to the federal government for $39,000 in materials and equipment for 1960-61 in foreign language, science and mathematics instruction programs, in accordance with the recent federal law.

Delivery of the language laboratory equipment, which will be used to aid the oral presentation of the foreign language curriculum, is expected in about 90 days.

TRUSTEES ALSO approved the employment of three clerks on a half-time basis to work in the school libraries at Acalanes, Las Lomas and Miramonte.

The employment policy was suggested by Superintendent Neil Parsons on the basis of a study recommended by the school board.

Members of the board discussed the possibility of making another film, similar to "The Acalanes Story," to point out the district's operation and the problem of student population growth.

PARSONS recommended that the film, and possibly a special report to the public, be released at the end of this school year in conjunction with the district's 20th anniversary.

The board authorized Parsons to continue his study of the cost of producing such a film, and the superintendent will report back to the board at a later date.

In other actions, the board:

1—ADOPTED A resolution providing for flag-raising ceremonies, including the Pledge of Allegiance, at each of the district's schools every morning. The resolution is in accordance with a new state law.

2—Appointed William Lee, the board chairman, as the district's representative to a county trustees' meeting for the election of members to the county committee on school district organization.

3—Called for bids on an eight-foot fence for the new Miramonte swimming pool.

Indicted Labor Boss Freed By Jury in Bribery Trial

Charles Francis Cooper is not guilty.

So ended five days of trial in Judge Wakefield Taylor's Superior court late Wednesday afternoon.

The jury of nine women and three men returned the not guilty verdict some six hours after the case was turned over to them by the judge.

COOPER, indicted union organizer, was accused of offerring a $150,000 bribe to District Attorney John A. Nejedly.

The jurors, mostly central county residents, heard Robert Condon, attorney for Cooper argue that his client was a victim of "entrapment."

Special Prosecuter James Cox contended Cooper was a part of an organized attempt to corrupt the county's government.

In addition to hearing Condon, Coper, Cox, Nejedly and Judge Taylor's instructions, the jury heard testimony from 13 witnesses during the four actual days of testimony.

Judge Taylor's instructions to the jury were one of the key points in the case. Cooper's defense was based on entrapment.

The judge explained for almost a half hour on the meaning of entrapment to the jury. A few comments included:

"If you find from the evidence that a bribe was offered to the district attorney . . . by this defendant . . . then you must not be concerned with the question of whether or not the defendant was acting solely on his own behalf or was acting on behalf of others . . ."

"ENTRAPMENT is the defense to a prosecution for offering a bribe, but it is available only when an officer of the law has conceived and planned the crime for a defendant who would not have done it but for the officer's allurement, deception or persuasion. If the criminal intent originates in the mind of the defendant, the fact that an officer appears to cooperate by furnishing the opportunity or otherwise aiding the offender in the consummation of the act is not a defense.

"When law enforcement officers are informed that a person intended to offer a bribe to a state official, they may afford opportunities for him to negotiate, bargain and discuss the matter with the defendant in lawful performance of their duties," the judge said.

REFERRING to Cooper's disappearance following the grand jury indictment, Judge Taylor pointed out that flight in itself is not sufficient to establish guilt. However, he added, it is up to the jury to decide if that flight showed consciousness of guilt.

Closing arguments of prosecuting and defense attorneys hinged on the legal issue of whether Cooper was the victim of "entrapment" by the district attorney.

Taking no issue with the evidence that Cooper carried the $150,000 bribe offer of Reno gambler Pechart to Nejedly, the defense had sought to show the idea of briberly originated in the mind of the district attorney and Cooper was the legally innocent victim.

Prosecuting attorney Cox described the bribe offer of Cooper and Pechart, former big time Contra Costa County gambler, as a "case of organized crime seeking to bribe and corrupt the district attorney of this county and "high powered criminal endeavor."

CONDON, who termed his own client both "stupid" and a man of inferior "moral fiber," claimed him the victim of a publicity seeking "crime-buster" district attorney who unsuccessfully set a trap for Pechart.

"We have an over zealous prosecutor who set a trap to catch Pechart and came up with Cooper. He set his trap to catch a tiger and he came up with a mouse," Condon claimed at the conclusion of an hour and ten minute closing argument for the defense.

Cox, who said he found Cooper not a stupid but "a pretty smart" witness, saw the origin of the bribe in Cooper's own statement that "his people" (Reno interests) believed the county was beginning to open up and Cooper's own admission during the testimony that he "saw nothing wrong in going along."

On the point of timing, the prosecution attorney maintained that Cooper would not have remained silent until he saw Pechart in June if there were any truth to his testimony that he discussed an illegal deal with Nejedly in April.

NEJEDLY had testified he had no discussion with Cooper until Cooper conveyed Pechart's bribe offer to him in a chance meeting at Amato's restaurant on July 1.

Cooper's positions as a mere messenger carrying Nejedly's request for money to Pechart was outlined by Condon, who argued Cooper took no action to rush the bribe offer after the alleged April talk and was in no rush to contact Nejedly after talking to Pechart in June. Cooper gave the message to Nejedly on July 1.

"Something is wrong with Cooper's moral fiber or he wouldn't be involved in this thing," but no particular energy or organized crime is shown on Cooper's part, Condon argued.

"Cooper did a lot of stupid things," he used a credit card and a private phone in his telephone contacts with Nejedly, Condon said, to exemplify lack of evidence of organized crime.

HOWEVER, "entrapment" and not the character of his client is the issue, Condon advised the jury.

Challenged by Condon to indicate why Pechart had not been called as witness for the prosecution, Cox said Pechart would have fought extradition.

"There was no evidence by which Pechart could have been indicted or charged prior to Cooper's testimony," Cox stated.

Nejedly's admitted role in going along with the July 1 bribe offer to obtain evidence in taped telephone conversations between himself and Cooper and himself and Richmond Attorney Thomas Carlson, who was named by Cooper as handling the money, was termed by Condon as untenable with Nejedly's position as chief law enforcement officer of the county although legally permissible.

CARLSON in his own testimony denied involvement in the bribe offer.

Nejedly was acting in the public interest and doing his job, Cox said. "If Nejedly hadn't returned his contact (by telephone) with Carlson, he would have violated his oath and his obligation and his duty . . . It took courage to risk his reputation on this case," knowing a jury might find some possible doubt of Cooper's guilt, and "leave him damaged goods in the public mind forever after," with the "taint of purgery."

After the verdict was announced, Cooper, organizer for Richmond Bartenders and Culinary Workers Union, Local 595, broke into tears and muttered: "Thank God."

Nejedly said following the proclamation: "This office has done its duty. That's the American jury system."

Jury Foreman Paul Wolford of Concord, said the decision was reached on the second ballot.

A key witness in the case, in addition to the principals and Carlson was a Martinez waitress, Marie Goodman, who testified she had seen Nejedly and Cooper talking together and that Nejedly had made a "gesture" to Cooper who was sitting with Hugh Caudel, president of the Central Labor Council.

Sugar Not Sweet

Mrs. Kathleen Falla of 2642 Cherry Lane, Walnut Creek, recently complained that someone poured sugar into her car's gas tank while parked at Kaiser Hospital.

Two Car Crashes In Same Location

A 51-year-old Oakland woman was taken to Kaiser Hospital after a car in which she was a passenger was struck broadside, according to reports of the California Highway Patrol.

The accident was at Reliez Valley Road and Pleasant Hill Road Tuesday.

Florence Bond who was riding in the car of Florence B. Cochran also of Oakland was injured when a car driven by Phillip Johnson, 215 Powell, Pleasant Hill, hit the car broadside.

In another Tuesday accident, a 21-year-old Lafayette woman, Francis Enrico, was treated when her car was hit broadside by an auto driven by Marion S. Tiltor of Danville at the Reliez Valley Road and Pleasant Hill Road intersection, highway patrol reports said.

In 1840, Dr. George Bodington of England started a TB sanatorium but was denounced as a lunatic. He turned his sanatorium into an asylum for the insane.

'I Earn Every Penny,' Says Mature Area Babysitter

"I earn every penny of it," said an Orinda mother concerning the fixed fees she receives as a professional babysitter.

Mrs. James Gordon replied to a by-lined article "These Robbery Victims Are Quiet," which appeared in The Sun last week, and implied criticism of the cost of babysitting these days.

"Many of my customers say I should charge more, and they keep coming back all the time," she said.

The babysitting agency's rate today is 75 cents per hour, with a minimum payment for four hours, where there are up to two children.

The minimum becomes $3.50 for three children, and $4 for more. There is a 50 cent charge for transportation when she furnishes it herself.

Mrs. Gordon, who has a daughter, Wendy, now a junior at Miramonte, and who is saving to put her through college, said she often sits four or five nights a week, and, contrary to The Sun's portrayal of a babysitter, never sleeps.

She checks the children every 20 minutes, often helps clean up the kitchen, but doesn't usually cook anything, preparing only occasionally simple meals.

"Often people want women, not teenagers, for the greater security. But sometimes when they say, 'You are too expensive,' I may recommend a teenager. Wendy charges 50 cents, and this seems fair," she said.

A grown woman is nearly always ready for an emergency, she continued, and so her time and efforts are worth more.

And the professional babysitter often is happy to read to the children, or otherwise entertain them.

"I sometimes bring my own children's books, when there aren't any in the home," Mrs. Gordon said.

Sometimes there is an animosity in the child towards the sitter, and this often is due to the fact that the parents are going out too often.

"When this is the case, I often drop a hint about this to the parents. And, of course, I try to remind the child that just as he or she had fun at that birthday party, mother and dad must enjoy themselves, too.

"As for your back-breaking jobs paying less money a few years ago, well, 75 cents doesn't buy as much as it used to, either," she continued.

"There are more people who need sitters than there are sitters, I have found. Whether the parents should form a baby-sitting club is a matter of choice, but most people have found they have too many problems with the club," Mrs. Gordon said.

Mrs. Gordon's comments were seconded by Mrs. Dorothy Hancock, whose letter to the editor is printed elsewhere in this edition.

She said in part, "Form all the co-operative groups you want, but think twice before you scoff at the professional baby-sitter."

Two Babysitting Clubs Organizing

Two babysitting exchange clubs, designed by mothers to avoid what they feel are too-high professional sitters' fees, are being organized in the area.

Mrs. Sula Frick of 21 Ruth Court in the Sun Valley area said she has been unsuccessful in joining one of the few existing clubs, and plans to organize one similar to the club of which she was a member in Pittsburg.

She has a son, Philip, 3½, and is the wife of Jack Frick, a Standard Oil Company analyist. Her phone number is YE 4-2892.

A meeting of interested parents will be held at her home Tuesday evening.

The other organizer is Mrs. Barbara Bucci of 2550 Jones Road in north Walnut Creek, who has called her organizational meeting for Wednesday evening at her home. Her phone number is YE 5-4814.

She wrote The Sun, "In essence, members of the group sit for other members, thereby receiving babysitting credits, while the gadders chalk up babysitting debits to be paid at a later time. A group chairman does the telephoning to obtain a sitter for the gadders."

Her group, sponsored by the Consumers' Cooperative of Walnut Creek, will study by-laws of the Berkeley Co-op babysitting pool, she said.

Women in The Sun

Busy, Busy, Busy, But Still Helps Youngsters

By JEAN JERNIGAN

How many women in the news, caught up in volunteer services and the social whirl of the holiday season, still retain amid the furor, the understanding of a warm, loving heart?

There's a lady in Danville never too busy to give to others, who believes her place is where she is doing something important for someone else. The lady is Jane Lonergan.

Mrs. Lonergan, now volunteer services director for the county-wide Juvenile Hall Auxiliary, served as its first president when the auxiliary was organized in 1955. The auxiliary now consists of 24 volunteer service committees working directly with the children and two fund raising units.

THE AUXILIARIES suuplement the work of the county, working directly with the Cottage children and the delinquents. It has taken two years of loving effort for these volunteers to be accepted by the children whose hearts and minds are often closed to "outsiders."

The leadership provided by Mrs. Lonergan has been instrumental in the success of the volunteers, however, of even greater importance has been her example of consistent, genuine interest in the problems of each child she meets.

It is not always easy to volunteer kindness in the face of rejection to return hatred with love, yet in working with her young friends at juvenile hall. Mrs. Lonergan does this consistently. The gift of her love, her time, her interest, is freely given to her auxiliary work. Along with the other volunteers she works with groups for grooming, arts and crafts, scholarship, religious services, psychiatric and medical.

MORE THAN 2000 CHILDREN in trouble go through Juvenile Hall each year. When an informed public, realizing the great need for recognition, the basic need of all children in trouble, perhaps the concern shown by Mrs. Lonergan and the auxiliaries will reach across the country and help other thousands of children in juvenile halls.

A lady who has never let her concern with "program" interfere with the people the program serves, Mrs. Lonergan and her husband Frank share the hospitality of their Danville ranch home and pool for many events for the children, and with the children themselves.

Mother of three daughters, grandmother of seven, this versatile lady has served as district club federation treasurer, is past president of the Danville Women's Club, a member of the Berkeley Women's City Club and other community groups.

Local Woman Needs Help In Aiding Disabled Vets

People living in an incapacitated state, ill or disabled and hospitalized, cannot, like the normal person, seek out affection, love, security—and the other human cravings and must therefore rely on benevolent folk to bring these things to them.

This is especially true of hospitalized war veterans, generally young men and generally separated from many of the people to whom they have the closest ties.

MRS. MARGARET Bainbridge, 919 Bell-Brook Street, has appreciated their predicament and has been helping the inmates of the Veterans Administration Hospital in Oakland and at the Oak Knoll Naval Hospital feel wanted.

But she needs help!

Mrs. Bainbridge has been knitting wool afghans for the boys, but now finds that she needs some extra wool to carry on her altruistic work.

SHE ASKS THAT anyone having scraps of wool, old wool sweaters that can be pulled out or any other sources of usable wool, bring the items to the Plaza Cleaners, 3537 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, where she will pick them up and put them to the best possible usage.

Mrs. Bainbridge's efforts have not gone unappreciated. Just before Mother's Day, she received a Mother's Day card with the following message from Edmund C. LeFeure of the Disabled American Veterans:

"To a grand mother to all our hospitalized veterans in Oakland VA hospital and at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital. We all wish you a very happy Mother's Day and we could not on this day forget all your kindness you have given to these boys.

Hyde-and-Jekyll Switch Helps Drunk Driver--DA

By NORMAN COLBY

The ability of a drunken driver to change from a Hyde to a Jekyll by court time, the jurors' automatic sympathy for him whatever the facts, and the defense attorneys' ability to sway jurors emotionally are the reasons why Contra Costa County has a poor record of "502" convictions.

So spoke District Attorney John Nejedly, Monday night at a joint meeting of the Pleasant Hill and Concord Junior Chambers of Commerce, held at Concord Inn.

Nejedly said, "When an officer looks at the drunk driver on the highway, he sees him staggering around, eyes bloodshot, clothes in disarray, unable to speak coherently.

BUT LATER IN COURT he appears neat and well dressed, reasonable, appealing, with his wife and five children beside him. He says he needs his car for work.

"The officer just can't bring into court the man he stopped on the road."

He added, "Every member of the jury is usually a potential drinking driver. He looks at the downcast defendant and says to himself, 'There but for the grace of God, go I.

"The average jury is not looking for any evidence, but only an excuse to let the man (or woman) go."

NEJEDLY EXPLAINED THAT if a person's blood alcoholic content is .05 of one per cent, he is considered somewhat under the influence, more so at .10, and the "drunk" level has been determined at .15 of one per cent.

"There was a Walnut Creek case we tried where the defendant had an alcoholic content of .29, which is somewhere between a stupor and passing out.

"The results of the clinical examination and other verifying evidence was presented to the jury. The defendant had three previous arrests.

"But the jury found him not guilty. Even accepting the fact that people get drunk at various stages of alcoholic imbibing, the juries are just not accepting the facts or treating them objectively."

TO A QUESTION, NEJEDLY replied that it is not true that a Pittsburg lawyer has a record of 22 straight acquittals on drunk driving cases, but added, "It is almost as bad."

He said, "The attorney will size up his jury, and then ask, how much is 3 cc., which is the amount of blood taken when a test is given to the driver.

"When shown it is so much, he will ask how much pure alcohol is necessary in 3 cc. for the pronouncement that he is drunk.

"They will reply one drop from an eye dropper.

"The lawyer will then cry out, 'You are asking that my client be convicted of drunk driving on the basis of a single drop of alcohol!

"HE WILL HINT THAT that much alcohol could have been introduced into the sample by the physician's needle, and so forth."

"Everytime a jury lets one of these people go, we talk to them later, in an attempt to learn how we failed in presenting our evidence. And we explain to them what happened, and invariably they say they would not let such a man go again. But it is too late for that case.

"It has gotten to the point that a traffic officer, thinking of the jury trial ahead, wants to ask the man, 'How many kids do you have?' " Nejedly continued.

"Of the 35 per cent of drivers who hire a lawyer and plead not guilty, we lose half.

"BUT I DON'T MEAN TO SAY an attorney should not take a drunk driving case. Every driver, drunk or not, is entitled to representation. One of the inequities is that a person with funds can fight such a case, and a person without funds cannot, usually."

Nejedly explained that since he became district attorney in January, he has raised the overall "502" conviction rate from 40 per cent to 65 per cent, but added, "The highway officers bring in a man for drunken driving only when they are absolutely sure they have all the evidence.

"There are many cases where they tell the driver to pull over and sleep it off, or persuade a sober passenger in the car, if there is one, to take over the wheel.

"THEY ARREST ONLY one in eight such cases, and for those eight, there are a hundred more drunken drivers which the limited enforcement patrol does not see.

"Therefore the problem becomes yours, as this county gets the equivalent of the Nimitz Freeway and East Shore Freeway. We can't solve the problem. It will be up to the people."

Nejedly said that the East Shore Freeway accident where a contractor with .20 of one per cent alcohol in his veins crossed the double line, killing five young nurses, was a case of "No intent, no malice, no thinking."

Student Is Honored

The Miller Freeman home in Happy Valley was the scene last week of an American Field Service tea honoring Yoko Abe, Acalanes student from Tokyo, Japan.

Yoko demonstrated the art of flower arrangement and performed a Japanese dance.

Her American "parents" are the Harry Betaques of Brown Avenue, while the Freemans are the "parents" of Charles Trippe of Southampton, England.

Tea arrangements were made by Mrs. Robert Arne of Boyer Circle.

Orindan's Mother

Mrs. Mary Blanche Ritchie Ward, 81-year-old mother of Ritchie R. Ward, 93 El Toyonal, died in a Los Altos rest home last Sunday.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Los Altos Chapel of the Spangler Mortuary. Private inurnment followed.

A native of Missouri, Mrs. Ward had lived at the rest home the last year.

In addition to Ward, she is survived by a brother, Joseph C. Ritchie of Santa Cruz; a grandson, William A. R. Ward of Orinda; and two great grandchildren.

GIVE HER A FULL HEAD of steam! says dad Carlisle, as Jimmie, alias "Casey Carlisle" gets ready to climb into the engineer seat of the machine dad made out of a cardboard barrel, lawn mower and chimney pipes. —Sun photo by Bob Rush.

'Casey' Carlisle Rides Engine Dad Constructed

Take a cardboard barrel, some chimney pipes, a big funnel, a lawnmower motor, some rubber tires and a little imagination—and you can rig something which even veteran Southern Pacific men will view with wonderment.

Ray Carlisle of 1953 Parkside Drive, Walnut Creek, proved this when he went to work on his machine which transformed his six-year-old son, Jimmie, into "Casey Carlisle."

The Carlisle locomotive, which won a first place in this year's Walnut Festival kiddies parade, isn't getting much of a workout these days, but when in action it putts along nicely on lawnmower power and the gasoline motor's exhaust, hooked up to the smokestack, gives the effect of the old steam engine when a little oil is mixed into the gas.

"We'll probably enter it in next year's kiddie parade," said the father.

He worked on the machine for more than a month, evenings and weekends, with Jimmie excitedly handing him necessary tools, and scampering into the engineer's seat every few minutes.

There is also room for a "fireman" but the "engineer" can handle the steering and braking all by himself, usually.

Responsibility in War On Pornography Outlined

Emphasizing the responsibility of parents in the battle against pornographic literature in the mails and on the newsstands, Mrs. J. Robert Snowden, PTA State President, and Mrs. Laurence B. Martin, State Director of Public Welfare, stressed the fact that alert parents could be helpful in preventing obscenities from falling into the hands of children.

The State officers addressed the members of the 32nd District PTA on Tuesday at the Concord Recreation Center, where the Mt. Diablo Council was hostess to the four other Councils of the District: Del Valle, Alhambra, John Swett and Victory Link.

Discussion of the accessibility of three demoralizing influences upon children (salacious literature, movies and TV) followed presentations by Mrs. Snowden and Mrs. Martin of the organization and function of PTA at the State level.

Stressing the importance of parent education in awareness of improper reading material, movies and TV programs for children, Mrs. Martin stated that the traffic in obscene mail has been pronounced a $700,000,000 business by the Los Angeles Postmaster, with $300,000,000 of this figure affecting the Los Angeles area alone.

Cooperation from parents was pronounced a basic need by the interception of this material, not with attempt to censor movies, TV and literature, but to make parents watchful of communications through the mail, as well as suitable scheduling of children's TV and radio programs.

Through the obviously innocent media of "sending for model airplanes," lists of names have been compiled for juvenile recipients of obscene material.

Acting as hostess at this gathering was Mrs. Robert T. Adams, president for the 32nd District, who was also chairman at the event on the preceding day when these officers were guests at a luncheon meeting and workshop of district officers and chairmen.

Speakers on that day were Dr. Floyd Marchus, county superintendent of schools, Dr. Glen Kent, assistant health officer, Contra Costa County, Dr. Francis Burke, county director of education, Dr. Frank Bradford, in charge of county administrative services, Captain Russ McGill, Calfiornia State Highway Patrol, Paul Kilkenny and Mark Kermit, department of public works.

'Mart' Bandit Ex-WC Man Arrested

Donald M. Thompson, respectable, solid-appearing former Walnut Creek resident and former supermarket chain supervisor, has been arrested in Klamath Falls, Ore., on suspicion of being the famed "Supermarket Bandit."

San Pablo Police Sergeant Clifford Locke identified Thompson, father of three children and owner of a $40,000 home in Klamath Falls and two new automobiles.

He had been discharged from his supermarket high salary job in November, last year, and worked later as a chain-store firm manager in Oregon.

The arrest came after Thompson returned to Klamath Falls after purchasing a new car in Walnut Creek.

His wife, Luella, said she assumed he was on business trips when he left home for various periods of time.

The "Supermarket Bandit" was being sought for robbing the Safeway Store at Four Corners October 2 of $1500, and Lucky Store, Orinda, October 29, of $200, and Purity Store in West Sacramento, October 30 of $2000 and a San Pablo market of $2700 about two years ago.

Health Group

Hospital service volunteers met at the home of Mrs. Hans Wendel, Lafayette, last Friday to plan the Fourth Annual Christmas Project of the Central Contra Costa Mental Health Association.

This includes plans for patients at Ward J, County Hospital, Martinez, and Napa State Hospital—a total of more than 5000 patients.

Present were Mesdames Robert Allenby, Dan Bates, Richard Levsen, Robert Love, H. B. Marty, John McKirahan, Mel Owens, Samuel Watkins of Lafayette; Mesdames D. A. Fallstrom and Gilbert Mead of Pleasant Hill; Mesdames Ivan Edmister and Stephen Fish of Walnut Creek and Mrs. W. C. Davis of Concord.

Lists of requested items are available by phoning the Mental Health Office. Lists include gift items such as nylons, cosmetics, costume jewelry, cigarettes, writing paper, candy, cookies and favors.

Gifts should be gift-wrapped and marked as to content. Some 390 gifts are needed for friendless and elderly patients on five wards at Napa State Hospital.

Help is also needed to sponsor ward parties. Throughout December, 80 Christmas parties are to be scheduled at Napa State Hospital of which 50 wards still need sponsorship.

Sun Subscriber Saw Closed the Sale!

Gilbert Greenberg of 196 Margie Drive, Pleasant Hill easily sold his eight-inch table saw, with table and double shaft motor with a single insertion in the Sun classified columns.

"Wanted: child's eletric Phonograph" was all that needed saying, and Mrs. Robert Anderson of 1202 Bacon Way, Walnut Creek, got immediate results with her minimum price Sun classified.

Mrs. Tom Jefferies of 835 Sibert Court, Lafayette, sold a girls 26-inch bicycle with new tires with a single Sun ad, and R. V. Burk, Jr., of 381 Monticello Drive, Walnut Creek obtained a "Mothers Helper," four hours a day, using a Sun ad.

THE LIST of "success stories" for Sun classified ads runs into the hundreds each week.

Only a few of them are used in stories of this type due to space limitations.

A big reason for the overwhelming results is the Sun's "5-in-1" treatment, where one insertion for one low price appears in the Sun Shopping News on Wednesday, and also the Walnut Creek Sun, Lafayette Sun, Orinda Sun and Pleasant Hill Sun.

An ad with 14 words or less costs only $1.60 for the "5-in-1" treatment.

Place your ad by telephone or in person for next week's Sun editions.

Youth Takes Part in Training Exercise

Army PFC Gregory G. Husar, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard G. Husar, 14 Tarry Lane, is participating in a five-week large-scale field training exercise with the 3rd Armored Division in Wildflecken, Germany.

The training is scheduled to end November 20.

Standard Oiler Jack Sindall, and wife Carolyn, introduce their silver poodle to the sparkling wonders of modern detergents.

From deep in the earth...the world's best cleaners

Less than 15 years ago, the first package of modern detergent was sold to a dubious housewife. Today, two-thirds of the nation's cleaning is done by synthetic detergents.

This has been made possible by a chemical ingredient found in petroleum. Standard pioneered production of this substance and today produces more than half of all that is used in the United States.*

As every woman knows, synthetics can do any cleaning job better. They make water "wetter," have greater cleaning power, cause dirt to come out fast and float away.

Detergents work in hard or cold water, leave no scum or bathtub ring, and allow dishes to drain sparkling dry.

To make detergents even better, our scientists are continually testing new formulas, which they try out on stacks of dishes, bundles of scientifically soiled laundry samples, piles of dirty white shirts.

As a result, the detergents you use get better every year. And they become useful in more and more ways, from washing railroad cars to making water wetter for fighting fires.

In this way, by continually working to bring you better products . . . the people at Standard are planning ahead to serve you better.

Soroptimists Hear Talk On St. Joseph's Center

Father Michael O'Brien, director of St. Joseph's Center for the Deaf and Hard-of-Hearing in Oakland, spoke to the Lafayette-Orinda Soroptimist Club Tuesday at luncheon.

Beginning his talk, "World of Sounds," Father O'Brien explained the diference between those who are deaf and those who are hard-of-hearing.

"DEAF PEOPLE," said Father O'Brien, "are people who have either been born without hearing or who have lost their hearing through disease or other mishap before speech habits have been formed."

"Such people have no concept of tones or sounds," he continued, "but they are able to feel vibrations and with patience can be taught speech. They can learn some modulation and inflection."

"On the other hand," Father O'Brien said, "those who have lost or partially lost their hearing after learning to speak find themselves faced with different problems. Adjustment in such cases involves withdrawal and bitterness."

ACCORDING TO Father O'Brien, the ability to learn lipreading and sign language has little relevance to the mental capacity of the patient. Those people who do not speak are not by nature stupid or dull.

"Therefore, the term often applied to 'deaf and dumb' is neither accurate nor kind," he pointed out.

In 1768 a French priest established a school for the deaf, instituting the sign language and alphabet. Today there are 210 schools for the deaf and hard-of-hearing in the United States, many of which are operated by the Roman Catholic Church, he added.

FIFTEEN million people in this country are deaf. Twenty-thousand live in Oakland and 40,000 in San Francisco, the speaker noted.

Often a child in public schools who is considered a problem child, a dreamer and who does not pay attention in class, is simply hard of hearing.

"He is, instead, a child WITH a problem," said Father O'Brien.

EMPHASIZING the importance of medical checkups on youngsters who may have hearing problems, Father O'Brien concluded that pride can deprive a child of valuable avenues in education and social activities.

Since the Second World War, during which he was a chaplain in the Navy, Father O'Brien has been interested in musical activities of youth groups.

Currently, as driector of St. Joseph's Center, he is working throughout the Archdiocese of San Francisco with the deaf and hard-of-hearing. His duties take him as far as Stockton and Burlingame.

FATHER O'Brien explained that he has classes in catechism, helps deaf people get jobs, interprets for them in public affairs, and teaches boys to serve at Mass.

The children are instructed by language and take part in church worship.

Library Board Names Slate of New Officers

Twenty representatives of the newly-organized Friends of the Orinda Library were present at the annual membership meeting of the Orinda Library Board held recently in the library meeting room.

Presiding over the first half of the meeting was Perc Brown, whose resignation from the board was regretfully accepted by the group.

THE HIGHLIGHT of the meeting was the question and answer period discussing the current status of the library.

Mrs. Clay Sorrick was introduced and gave a brief summing-up of the background as well as future plans of Friends, which is affiliated with the national association.

The nominating committee, headed by Mrs. Donald Krotz, presented a new slate of board members who were duly elected.

Following a coffee break, the new board convened and elected the following officers:

PRESIDENT, Mrs. John J. Madison; vice - president, Mrs. Roger Stark; secretary-treasurer, William Fleager.

Elected to the board as directors were Mrs. William H. Mordy, Ned deLaveaga, Mrs. Clay Sorrick and Attorney Ernest Spiegl. Honorary directors appointed were Perc Brown, Mrs. Donald Krotz and Dr. Lloyd Farrar.

Justice and Money Mix; But We Still Pay the Bill

With the filing of a change of venue request to the now non-existent Walnut Creek Municipal Court has come another of those thorny civic and political problems.

And, as usual, the result will be felt in your wallet and purse. It will, eventually, show up on your tax bill.

This particular problem—the location of a municipal court or courts, and the number of them—is plagued with an unusual number of ramifications, and it is going to take a great deal of study before the issues become clear—and more study, we suspect—before they are really understood.

Obviously, the cost figures for all the proposals are going to have to be laid right on the table, and in the very near future.

BASICALLY, THE problem is this. There is now a municipal court in Concord and a judicial court in Walnut Creek. Through various legal maneuvers, which have been started, a municipal court can be established here right away.

But a municipal court is more expensive to operate than a judicial district court, and there has been serious doubt cast as to the need for an additional municipal court at this time.

One possible solution is the amalgamation of the Concord Municipal Court and the present Walnut Creek Judicial District into one "super" municipal court district with two departments.

Regarding the cost of this proposal, Judge Betsy FitzGerald Rahn has estimated that the savings would amount only to $2000 or so, while another group of attorneys has estimated the savings in the vicinity of $30,000.

THERE IS AN OBVIOUS discrepancy here, and an equally obvious need for investigation of the true facts. After all, you'll be paying the bill.

The most ecomonical thing to do would be to leave the status quo, but because the petition has been filed, this is no longer possible. This was the action of an Oakland attorney and Lafayette resident named Ed Rice.

Theoretically, there would be a considerable saving in establishing one court building in the Pleasant Hill area, with two departments, to serve the entire region from Orinda and Moraga to Concord.

Some objections have been offered to this plan because the court would be moved from Walnut Creek and it is feared that when a judge was elected, the preponderance of votes would come from the Concord area thereby stifling the voice of the residents of Walnut Creek, Lafayette and Orinda.

This is not merely provincialism at work, but a real concern for representation by an area in an important office.

BUT THIS DOES not seem to be the case, if it is fully investigated. It might be assumed that Pleasant Hill, as such, would remain "neutral" in an election, not caring, for example, whether the judge came from Concord or Lafayette. Wouldn't the voting power in the combined areas of Lafayette-Orinda-Walnut Creek match that of Concord? And of course as Moraga increases in population the balance will become more even.

The central point of the entire problem is a financial one, and here some of the recent actions of the board of supervisors have been questioned.

That they are interested in this situation and are trying to do the proper thing is not to be questioned. But many people have asked why, if they are so concerned with the finances of this operation, they did not take the opportunity to save a good deal of money by absorbing the Clayton Valley judicial District into the Concord Municipal District when they had the opportunity to do so recently?

THIS COULD HAVE been done with no difficulty at all, but it was not done, another judge was appointed, and an unnecessary judicial court continues to function.

It loses money, and all of this costs you money.

However, just because the board did not take the proper action in the Clayton Valley case does not mean that they can't do so in this case.

There are many more facts to be established before a truly intelligent, unbiased decision can be made.

The ultimate decision should be that which will provide us with a tenable level of services at the minimum cost.

And now is the time to find out.

These Numbers Familiar?

ENterprise 1-1560.

Does that telephone number mean anything to you?

How about YEllowstone 5-6400?

At least one of those numbers should be written in big letters right across the top of your telephone book, or posted in big numbers right next to the telephone.

The first number is the Sheriff's office in Martinez, and if you want to get action, that's who you call.

The second is the Walnut Creek Police Department.

NOW, WE ASSUME that being an adult, if there were trouble, you would find some sensible way of getting help. But how about your baby sitter?

The holiday season is practically upon us, and this means more party-time and entertaining. Consequently, this means more baby-sitting positions will be available.

We have no quarrel with baby sitters. Most are intelligent, conscientious teenagers, who do a fine job. But we would like to offer a few suggestions that will make their job easier and your mind easier when you leave the house.

Obviously, all emergency numbers should be posted next to the telephone . . . this includes the local law enforcement agency, the fire department, and your family physician.

And of course, you'll want to leave a number where you can be reached in case of emergency.

It is also a point of courtesy to your sitter to let her know when you will be returning home. You can always call if you will be later.

IN ADDITION, your sitter should be instructed on the following points:

If there is any special hazard about that attracts your child.

If the child is taking medication.

What the child is permitted to eat, and when.

Where the electric light switches are located (and the fuse box, too).

Where you keep first aid supplies, and where a flashlight is kept if the lights suddenly go out.

Special instructions on pets and rules on TV viewing and bedtime hours.

AND VERY IMPORTANT, whom the sitter might expect, or whom she is to admit, if anyone.

You might want to set down your own rules about your babysitter having company, too, and just what she may or may not eat from the refrigerator.

I Just Can't Stand It...

By DICK OSBORN

Thought we might have a little fun this week, at the expense of one of our many, many political subdivisions.

This happens to pertain to the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, but they're just serving as a model . . . believe me, they do not stand alone.

Furthermore, their intentions are nothing but wonderful!

Received a nicely worded piece in the mail the other day with one of the finest newspaper lead sentences I have read in a long time. Quote:

"CLEARING THE AIR around certain words and phrases used in air pollution control work is a special project of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District during National Cleaner Air Week. (Oct. 25-31.)"

Well, this warms my old newsman's blood . . . here's an organizatoin that actually has the intestinal fortitude to come out and explain in one syllable words just exactly what they mean. Yes sir, no more gobbledygook. This ought to be a real lesson to all those double-talking publicists that send in the jargon the Sun staff has to interpret every week.

ALAS, FRIENDS, it was not to be. The honeymoon is over! The air polution group started out nobly. To wit:

"We'd like to make sure that Bay Area residents without special scientific training know what these words mean, and see why certain restrictions should be made."

Tremendous! The release then goes on to definite "grain-loading," "process weight" and "Ringelmann." This is fine.

So I read the release with interest—with utter fascination, you might say, until I got to the last paragraph. Here, friends, is what it said:

"THE DISTRICT staff and the Advisory Council are currently working on the important job of determining to what degree limits on emissions must be imposed in order to assure healthful living throughout the 6-county area of Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Clara."

Now, I ask you, is that fair? To explain all these terms, then to come out with a sentence like that and not use a single one? And to leave you dangling and wondering about what kind of emission they are talking about and what in the world is a degree limit, or how do you limit these emissions, or something to that effect?

It shattered my day—totally.

I KNOW BEN LINSKY (he's the smog boss) won't take this personally, and neither will our good friends in air pollution, because we're good Americans, and we hate smog just like everybody else.

But I thought you people might like a sample of the jargon some of these fellows use. It almost looks like they went to college.

And all I can say is, if you think they're bad, you should talk to an attorney (corpus delecti is simple), a doctor, (have you seen the names on some of those diseases?) or an engineer (he talks in mathematical symbols!).

Anyway, we're all hoping that next week will be better.

Gravel in the Garden... & Rocks in the Head!!

By MARIE MONAHAN

THIS is the industrious time for homeowners.

Sounds of buzz saw, hammer & cement mixer split the serene & sunny-morning mood.

It is a contagious disease with NO immunity for suburb dwellers.

ONE man leans over the fence, smiles smugly & says "Ready for the rains?" And that's ALL it takes to put the whole neighborhood in a panic!

WE ARE ahead of the game. The garage roof has new shingles & the garden boasts a big bulb planting.

Every year this time we go through the same planting process. We dig the holes, bury the bonemeal, put the bulb in right side up. (At least we think we put it in right side up — in some cases it's hard to tell which way is UP!)

We are very optimistic. It is a losing battle. NOTHING ever happens.

The gophers play In & Out The Tunnel & we wonder what happened to all the lilies that never bloom.

Then we called up the sand & gravel dispensary. We would like some red-colored rock, said we. Something to fill in where the soil is washing down the hilly slope.

THE MAN with the rocks in his mind said "How about Red Rock?" That sounded fine so we ordered it delivered.

NOT only delivered, but, during our absence, layered lavishly over the garden paths & watered down where it turned to cement — almost. A billious yellow!

We hied off to pick out something ELSE to cover over the "red rock" which was, by now, firmly attached to the terra firma.

It was an interesting expedition for a woman.

BUYING rock or gravel is like buying a hat. There are so many varieties you can scarce make up your mind.

But in another way, buying rock is NOT like buying a hat at all. If you don't like a hat after you get it home, you can always take it back.

But once the truck has dumped 2 or 3 yards (which we learned, does NOT mean 36" in measure) well, once the truck has plopped the mess smack in the middle of your driveway, it is almost impossible to return it.

IF the truck drops gravel in the middle of your driveway, you should be thankful. It COULD have been plunked in the midst of your neighbor's driveway. Then you WOULD have troubles!

It is best to use up all the gravel. Otherwise you have MORE problems.

The children can mix their own red-rock mud balls when you're not looking or start carting cans-full into the house to store under their beds or in the drawers with their clean clothes. There will be endless little Hansel & Gretel trailways throughout the house.

OR the neighbors dogs will find it nice. Or the kids start throwing it all over the place. (They will throw it anyhow later. Gravel is something you can not glue down.)

Well, let the rains come. We are ready.

Except for a new hat.

WHAT with the price of red rock & gravel & patching up the neighbor's broken window & calling the plumber to . . . not to mention repair to the rattly vacuum cleaner, we will just have to wait till Spring for a new bonnet.

BABYSITTING

Dear Editor:

I have just finished reading Norman Colby's article, "These Robbery Victims Are Quiet."

I am am a baby-sitting at the moment for 75 cents an hour, working through an agency, and have done so for over eight years.

I have never had a complaint concerning the rate. Perhaps the article was aimed at the teen-agers.

My 16-year-old daughter gets 50 cents and sometimes 60 cents per hour. We both have plenty of customers . . .

Why do you consider baby-sitting such a lowly occupation

Children should be the parents' most precious possession.

Quoting, "For day sitting the child is taken to the sitter's home."

How about 3, 4, 5, 6 or perhaps seven little ones?

We do not have to be awakened to sleepily hold out our hands.

"We do cook a meal and do the dishes the children use, while we are in charge. We do bathe and dress the children for bed, etc.

As for men a few years back performing back-breaking tasks for half that pay, how ridiculous can you sound!

If you worked a few years back, did you receive 38½ cents to 50 cents for hard labor?

It seems we have had a minimum wage for some time, haven't we?

I asked several of my customers how they felt about a co-operative set-up and nary a one was interested. They would rather pay than have to cope with someone else's children.

. . . Form all the cooperative groups you want, but think twice before you scoff at the professional baby-sitter.

. . . By the way, how many cocktails did Johnny's folks consume in four hours? Perhaps that's why your lady Robin Hood had more money than Johnny's folks.

MRS. DOROTHY HANCOCK

ELECTION COVERAGE

Dear Editor:

May I, as president of the Lafayette Improvement Association, express to you and your staff our sincerest thanks for your cooperation in the recent incorporation campaign and election.

Although the project was unsuccessful, your many assists and courtesies are truly appreciated and contributed very largely in what success we did achieve.

Through your cooperation we can feel assured that our community is much better informed on matters directly affecting us than they previously were. All of this is to the good.

I personally want to express my thanks.

More than that I want to convey to my many friends my sincerest thanks for the vote given to me as well as the many helping hands they gave throughout the campaign.

TEENAGERS

Dear Editor:

So much newspaper space has been allotted to juvenile crimes such as petty theft, vandalism, armed robberies and even murder, that we feel we should tell of this very pleasant experience we had last Hallowe'en night.

We were returning from a Hallowe'en dinner dance at the Scottish Rite Temple at about 1 a.m. Hallowe'en night.

When we reached the Orinda Crossroads, our car groaned and shivered and finally came to a complete halt and nothing could induce her to start.

As we were wondering what we were going to do about it at this unearthly hour in the morning, a young man about 17 or 18 years of age drove up and asked us if he could give us a push. No amount of pushing could coax old Bertha to start, so this kind young man drove us right to our doorstep.

He explained on the way home quite a number of teenagers were assisting the sheriff's office in covering the area to keep down vandalism. We offered him "a little something to buy some gasoline," he politely refused and said "we are not allowed to take money, we are just here to assist anyone we can."

He then handed us a card on which was imprinted "THE BALANCERS, Orinda, California."

Needless to say we were extremely grateful for the kindness shown us and for the manner in which it was shown. MORE POWER TO YOU—BALANCERS OF ORINDA! KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK.

—MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GRACEY.

NEW TUNNEL

Dear Editor:

Several years ago the state highway commission allocated funds for a "years ahead" project—the four-lane Nimitz Freeway to East Oakland and beyond. But no sooner had it been completed than a patchwork project to widen to six lanes had to be initiated.

Admittedly this was a poor way to waste the taxpayers' dollars.

BUT IT IS said that history repeats itself, and apparently repeat history is in the making. Personally I was amazed to see that our five-years-late tunnel is going to be only two lanes with directional traffic control at peak hours.

Here is my own interpretation of what is transpiring and I only voice my views to try to prove that we are well on the way toward spending more than double what the tunnel should cost.

Yet assuredly I do not want to do anything or say anything that might delay this long overdue project:

1. Faced with the problem of allocating slim funds, yet appeasing vociferous groups from all sections of the state, the commission settled on the compromise of a two-lane tunnel.

2. This was apparently qualified with a notation that a second two-lane bore was to be started some time after completion of the first one.

3. This means that the state will have to go through the expensive process of asking for bids for this third tunnel instead of getting the job done as it should be done.

4. This means that all the equipment (or its equivalent) used to build the second tunnel, will have to be moved back to build bore number three.

5. This penny pinching approach probably means that the ultimate four lanes, sorely needed even now, will cost the taxpayers (in comparative figures) $23,000,000 instead of $14,000,000.

6. These comparative figures are based on the assumption that it will cost very little more to build a four-lane tunnel than a two lane. We must remember that traffic through this bore will all flow in the same direction, eliminating the need for a dividing strip or wall.

7. MY THEORY would certainly be refuted if projected traffic needs would show that four lanes were not needed until about 1972. But one has only to see the daily morning four-lane jam at the Orinda Crossroads to realize that the four-lane tunnel will be needed even before completion of the projected two-lane structure.

8. Again let me say that absolutely nothing should delay start of this long-overdue project. But I suggest the state explore the overall cost by getting bids on a two-lane and a four-lane tunnel, also the probably inflated cost of the proposed future additional two-lane structure.

9. After totaling the figures, if two and two make four or probably even 5, and the single four totals only three ($23,000,000 for two two-lane tunnels or $14,000,000 for one four-lane) then it is basic that millions in taxpayers' money could be dumped down the drain due to poor planning. I sincerely feel that this one requires open figure reviewing by all concerned.

Here Are 12 Rules for Rearing Delinquent Kids

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

What is the most important, most difficult job for an adult?

The answer: Bringing up his children.

Certainly our lives revolve about our kids and we do our best for them. But I often wonder if it isn't becoming increasingly difficult to be a good parent in these modern days with the pace of living becoming faster and faster.

We look at the antics of some of the teenagers and shake our heads. On the other hand, do we forget what we did as teenagers?

We read about juvenile delinquents and are shocked. In many cases, it would be interesting to know: who is delinquent—the parents or the children?

Test yourself on these

An intriguing answer to this question is presented by the Houston Police Department in its leaflet, "Twelve Rules for Rearing Delinquent Children." Here it is:

1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. This will make him think he's cute. It will also encourage him to put up "cuter" phrases that will blow off the top of your head later.

3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait until he is 21 and then let him "decide for himself."

4. Avoid use of the word "wrong." It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe later, when he is arrested for stealing a car, that society is against him and he is being persecuted.

5. Pick up everything he leaves lying around—books, shoes and clothes. Do everything for him so that he will be experienced in throwing all responsibility on others.

Garbage for literature

6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful that the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feast on garbage.

7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of your children. In this way they will not be too shocked when the home is broken up later.

8. Give a child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?

9. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink and comfort. See that every sensual desire is gratified. Denial may lead to harmful frustration.

10. Take his part against neighbors, teachers, policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.

11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself by saying, "I never could do anything for him."

12. Prepare for a life of grief. You will be likely to have it.

Well, there it is. Food for thought, isn't it?

The youngsters take over

There is, of course, another school of thought. What do our young people think of us as parents?

I recently heard of a meeting of parents, young people and teachers. The young people, of various ages, aired their complaints. Needless to say, the adults didn't get an A. In fact, the parents were rather shocked at the outcome. Here are some of young people's gripes:

Children often do not get the attention of parents, or enough time to warm up to say what is really on their minds.

A college undergraduate stated: "Until colleges and students wake up to the fact that women should be trained as homemakers first and job-seekers second, the role of mother and homemaker will always be a second rate operation."

Fathers too busy?

Many of the youngsters whose fathers are executives and businessmen complained their parent's long hours made it impossible for them to see their fathers sometimes for days.

"Such families do not enjoy the close relationship which characterizes an ideal family life," they stated.

Others complained that their parents sent them to church, but didn't go themselves.

Several youths cried for more recognition at home, to be able to voice opinions at the dinner table without a discourse from father which runs through the entire dinner hour.

All asked for the right to establish their own values in life.

Who decides values?

"Parents frequently pass along values with which we don't agree," they said.

These were examples cited by the youth:

"Select only certain people as friends. You must go to college—particularly Cal or Stanford. You must make money, or marry money. And you should preferably hold all of the above values."

Residents—parents and otherwise—were indicted by the youngsters for community failure to provide sufficient school facilities, and enough teachers to give pupils time to discuss their study problems.

Too many activities?

Some of the kids claimed the world is moving so fast, and there are so many activities, that there is too little time for pure leisure.

"We don't have enough time to share our relationships . . . for discussions . . . for the conversations that build up a real family unit," they declared.

Certainly the youngsters offer valid criticism. Such meetings are healthy and should be encouraged. We've had some excellent meetings along these lines this past year. They stimulate thinking and action, by adults and young people.

What do you think?

Children's Play Will Tell About Runaway Clown

On December 5 the curtains will rise on "The Clown That Ran Away." This is the first of four plays presented by the East Bay Children's Theater, Inc.

Two performances will be given at the Stanley School in Lafayette, one at 10:30 a.m. and the other at 2 p.m.

WHAT HAPPENS when Dodo the circus clown meets Mr. Frumkins, the old doll maker, and Glorious Gloria, the most beautiful doll in the world, is the story of Dodo's wonderful adventure in "The Clown That Ran Away."

Of course, there is Rudolph Bernard Boo, the town's terrible robber, his friend, Ugly, and Gladys, the homeless horse, who add fun and excitement to this merry tale.

The other plays in the series also have great appeal to the children. In January "The Wizard of Oz" will be presented, in March will be "The Red Shoes," and the final play in April will be "Candlestick Jack."

TICKETS FOR the series of four plays may be ordered by mail. Please send $2 and stamped self-addressed envelope to East Bay Children's Theater, Inc., 305 Hillside Avenue, Piedmont, California, or single tickets may be purchased at the box office for 65 cents.

Birthday parties and other large groups will be given special attention if arrangements are made ahead of time. Kindly call OLympic 5-4499 for further information.

Two Offers Boost Drive For Hospital

Two more significant contributions to John Muir Memorial Hospital's $750,000 building fund goal this week have brought it to over $150,000, campaign Chairman Edmund S. Barnett announces.

A $15,000 pledge from the hospital Women's Auxiliary has endowed the hospital nursery.

In support of this specific goal for the next three years, each individual guild of the auxiliary plans one annual fund raising event, and will join other guilds in one major auxiliary event such as the cocktail fashion show which in September netted over $2300 for the hospital.

WITH JOHN Muir Memorial Hospital as their philanthropic project, 27 Alpha Lambda chapter members of Omega Nu Sorority already have given the building fund $700 in proceeds from their Walnut Festival hamburger booth.

Co-chairmen of the booth were Mrs. Harlan Copsey and Mrs. Richard L. Woodruff, chapter president.

William Nickerson of Alamo, who built his million-dollar estate by spare time real estate transactions, backed with a check for the building fund his verbal support of the Hospital as a tangible asset to property owners within its service area.

Radio Station KKIS is carrying short personal interviews on the hospital endeavor, under direction of KKIS' John FitzWater. Young people also telling the hospital story are Margaret Groder of Las Lomas High School, in forensic competition; and Liz Trask, who is doing a journalistic feature on the hospital for Pleasant Hill High School's paper.

SOLICITATION of public employees is slated for the third week in November, under direction of John A. Nejedly.

Recently meeting with him to plan their contacts were Neil Parsons, Charles Toll, Hal Cheney, Mrs. Polly White, James Jentges, and J. P. Gustafsen.

Meanwhile, business solicitation is being directed in Walnut Creek by Gordon McNulty and Pat Paddock, with Tom Duffy, Larry Ferrero and H. W. Toland handling the business division drive in Lafayette, Alamo, and Danville, respectively.

Andy Anderson of Walnut Creek is in charge of soliciting firms of more than 10 employees.

ENDOWMENT of specific memorial rooms and equipment is a special aim of Gene Williams' division soliciting clubs and organizations for support in the hospital project.

Working with Dr. Herbert R. Packard in the dental division, which looks forward to dental operating provisions in the hospital's first expansion plans, are Doctors Lyall O. Bishop, Ronald G. Light, Donald Priewe, Claude P. Warden, C. Carlos Cabrera, Louis M. Ellis, Lee R. Winters, John S. Shaw, Norman E. Betaque, B. F. Pridgen, William M. Sheeran, John K. Hansen, Robert A. Burley, and Harold J. Kristal.

County Gets Its Share of Highway Tax

Contra Costa County's share of the Highway Users Tax Fund in October was $154,784, according to State Controller Alan Cranston.

The total amount alloted to the counties was $7,379,987.

Some $19,986,459 went to the State Highway Fund for expenditure on highways.

About $2,882,063 went to the State Highway Fund for cities.

The total distributions increased by $2,559,644 or 9.24 per cent over those for October of 1958, Cranston said.

The amount distributed during October was comprised of $27,667,800 from the net gasoline tax, $1,442,738 from the diesel fuel tax, $1,137,393 by transfer from the Motor Vehicle Transportation Tax Fund, and $578 from miscellaneous sources.

Parking Area Enlarged at Therapy Center

Bringing the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center one step closer to completion, was the recent contribution of Gallagher & Burk, Inc., local contractors.

Under the supervision of D. J. Spillane and Ray Pierra, an additional 6000 square feet of parking area was installed on the east side of the four-acre site for use of Center patients.

According to James Simonds, chairman of the Facilities Committee, this more convenient parking area will save the disabled patient many steps when coming into the Center for treatment.

The Greeks had a word for it —"phthisis." Modern doctors call it tuberculosis.

On The Lighter Side

By CAROL HODGES

Can't imagine an evening more enjoyable than that being planned by the Walnut Branch of the Children's Hospital of the East Bay November 28 at the lovely new Elks Club in Concord!

It will be a theatrical party — "On the Town" — and portions of famous Broadway plays will be staged under the very able direction of the bay area's own Mr. Leslie Abbott.

Featured will be Sausalito's Gate Players, the San Jose Light Opera Company and Palo Alto's Commedia. They will do scenes from such hits as Pajama Game, South Pacific, Where's Charlie, Carousel, Finian's Rainbow, Show Boat, On the Town and The Boy Friend.

No evening would be complete with just the theatre alone, so after the fabulous entertainment, there will be dancing and a light buffet supper. Mrs. Robert Wentz of Concord is general chairman and has been assisted by Mrs. J. Allen Madison of Walnut Creek.

The party will be from 9 until 2 and I might mention that reservations for this ELEGANT affair are limited, so make yours early by contacting Mrs. Madison.

Walnut Branch Welcomes New Members

The Walnut Branch welcomed the following new members at their last meeting held at the home of Mrs. Alden T. Mackay in Walnut Creek: Mesdames John Salathe, Robert Chance, George P. Dirth, L. W. Werthman and Kenneth Holcombe of Walnut Creek, and E. C. Litsinger of Pleasant Hill. Mrs. Hollis McLaughlin of Walnut Creek will become active starting January 1.

All branches of the Children's Hospital will participate in the annual "Children Varieties" and the "Festival of Christmas Trees" December 5 at the Claremont Hotel.

The Alder Branch, with Mrs. Sam Mason of Walnut Creek as chairman, will have charge of the Varieties this year and her committees have a great many "grand" things lined up to entertain the little ones. Paul the Magician will leave them in open-mouthed wonderment with his conjuring and put them in stitches with his comical little puppets, while "Nick Knack" the well known clown will play the part of Santa Claus in his lovable fashion.

There will be Christmas Carols as well to quicken the young heartbeats in anticipation of the "great day" that will be here before we know it!

While the children are thus being entertained and cared for, the mothers will be free to attend the "Festival of Christmas Trees." These beautifully decorated master-pieces are done by the members themselves as well as business concerns throughout the East Bay. These will be for sale.

Tickets are obtainable at the door, the Children's Varieties 75c children only — mothers are free, and $1.00 for the Festival of Trees.

Alder Branch Members Volunteer in Something new and of interest for the Alder Branch; the members are working as volunteers in occupational therapy at the hospital two days a month. They play games with the patients, read, make cut-outs, etc., and find this sort of work most gratifying!

A Christmas meeting of the Mt. Diablo Delta Gamma Alumnae will be held at the home of Mrs. John Risbrough, Jr. (Virginia), 1214 Warner Court in Lafayette December 10 at 8, and all Delta Gammas living in Central Contra Costa County are invited to attend.

The group is most interested at this time in helping to support a little five year old blind boy, "Ivan," who lives in San Francisco and is in great need of assistance.

Occupational Therapy

The Flicker Unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center held its wine tasting party and art exhibit at the Concord Inn last weekend and it was MOST successful! The varieties of wines, some light as air, others a little "heady," were superb and after making the cricuit of tables, sampling this one and that, the 250 guests wandered in to view the most interesting art display of lovely portraits, landscapes and impressions, both in oils and water colors, and some VERY excellent photography! How difficult it would be for the judges to choose.

The first award in oils was given to Jason Schoener of Oakland, second to L. B. Siegriest also of Oakland, and the third to Dan Cavert of Walnut Creek. The first in water colors went to Alleene Stoeffler of Lafayette, second to Robert Jensen, Oakland and third to Katherine Barieu of Berkeley. First and second were awarded Martin Weber of Berkeley for photography, and third was awarded Jim Vale of Walnut Creek in this field.

Sweepstakes winner was Blanche Brody of Orinda. All artists participating were from the Bay Area and the judges, Charles Gill, Louis Miljarak and George Miyasaki are members of the faculty at the College of Arts and Crafts.

Art Exhibit Prize Winners Named

The Richard Liebers of Walnut Creek entertained guests afterwards with an Italian style dinner and enjoying their hospitality were the Richard Stones of San Francisco; the Herb Rowleys, Richard Olsens, Vance Perrys of Walnut Creek; the David Keplers of Pleasant Hill and the Larry Cahns from Corte Madera.

Other dinner parties following the affair included the Lloyd Smiths of Beryl Drive, Concord, who hosted the Robert Martles, George Morris', and the Clifford Halls, all of Concord. The Robert Schroders of Walnut Creek served "yummy" enchiladas at their party to Ted and Dotty Gurney and Lois and Bob Lawrence of Walnut Creek; Frank and Jean Hittell, "R" and Ann Ripley, and John and Gail Hallgreen of Lafayette. The Howard Burks of Alamo rounded out their delightful day, entertaining the Carl Marinos, Werner Petersens, Paul Cortes', Addison Ausplunds of Walnut Creek, the Donald Wylies of Pleasant Hill and the Parker Schwambs of Alamo.

Gala Dinner Parties Held After Wine Tasting

A HILARIOUS time at the Jack Jackson's in Walnut Creek Saturday night! A surprise birthday party for Jack, conceived by his wife Dotty. Jack was put into a state of shock when he arrived home at eight-thirty to find his charming home turned into a den of iniquity and filled with a strange gathering of Beatniks! Weird green lights and the beat of bongo drums greeted him as he opened the door, and hanging from every conceivable wall space, were MAD modernistic paintings!

Vicki Hester of Magnolia Way, Walnut Creek, is the CLEVER one who dreamed up the works of art.

Dotty served a delicious buffet after game-playing and dancing and it will be a night to remember for a long time for the Frank Algoods, Larry Dinis, Ed Nevins Jr., William Gaskells, Don Johnsons, Myron DeFounts, Richard Fredricks, Rob Donnachies, Ray Cassanis, of Walnut Creek; the Mike LaValles and Dan Vis' of San Leandro and the Jack Davis from Sunnyvale.

Choral Group Plans Yule Concerts

Diablo Valley Choral group held its October business and luncheon meeting recently at the home of Mrs. T. B. Strand, 203 Doris Avenue, Walnut Creek.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. B. E. McNay, Mrs. Donn DuBoise, and Mrs. E. Oas.

Future plans for this women's singing group under the direction of Nico Snell will include a program to be given December 8 for the Alamo Mothers Club and an afternoon concert on December 10 for the Senior Citizens at the Walnut Creek Recreation Center.

The annual Christmas concert and party for members of the choral group and their guests will be given at the Alamo Women's Club on the evening of December 10.

Women to See Make-up Application

The Ygnacio Valley Women's Club will meet today at the Eichler Club House.

Mrs. Margo Burkhardt, member and former instructor at the Barbizon School of Fashion Modeling, New York City, will give a short demonstration, applying make-up to members and guests, before the business meeting.

Members are planning a theater party November 28 at the Lafayette Town Hall.

The Dramateurs will present "The Hasty Heart." Public is invited to attend. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. and tickets, $1.50 each, may be purchased from club members or at the box office.

Contact Mrs. Lee Morrison for further information.

Winter Is Coming; Some Gardening Must Be Done

Don't look now, but winter is just around the corner. Fortunately, this thought does not frighten us in mild-winter California, but it does spur us on to some activity in the garden.

There are things to attend to before the rains descend in earnest; before a wind catches us unaware and topples an unstaked shrub. There are plants to be planted before the soil becomes too soggy and cold; seed to be sown while the weather is still favorable to germination of that particular type. Ask your C.A.N. Nurseryman which seeds can be sown now.

FIRST OFF, the California Association of Nurserymen reminds us that November is THE ideal month to plant many evergreen shrubs and trees. Get them in now and the rains will get them established with little or no further attention from you. Same natives set out now will never need further watering.

Bedding plants should be set out—perennials and annuals alike—before the ground becomes unworkable. Work mulch or humus into the sail to keep it soft. Don't prepare a bed right after a rain. Rather, wait a few days until soil is once again in condition to work without compacting it.

Suggested annuals are cineraria, calendula, pansy and viola. Among perennials, seedling delphinium and primrose, columbine, coral bells and English daisy are but a few of those available.

IN THE ROSE garden, C.A.N. nurserymen suggest an inventory at this time. Bushes that have lost their appeal or seem unhappy in their surroundings should come out to make way for new varieties next month.

Also in the rose garden, check stakes on tree roses to see if they will support the wind-vulnerable trunks. Make sure new canes on ramblers and climbers are secured against the elements.

All fallen leaves should be raked from planted areas and lawns to keep rains from sogging them up and smothering growing things beneath. Bait can be scattered to stop snails and slugs. These are cool-weather critters and you don't want them active at a time when you are not.

'Sunrise at Campobello' Is at Curran Theatre

The Curran Theater (San Francisco) attraction through December 5 will be the long-run Broadway hit, "Sunrise at Campobello," with Ralph Bellamy in the starring role he created in New York.

Performances will be given every evening except Sunday, with matinees Wednesdays and Saturdays.

THE PLAY RAN on Broadway for more than 18 months, before beginning its present limited road tour. With a notable cast of 25 players, and elaborate scenic investiture, "Campobello" comes here directly from a capacity engagement at the Blackstone Theater, Chicago.

Two 70-foot baggage cars are required to transport the scenery and costumes across the country. Sponsoring the local engagement are the Theater Guild and Dore Schary, the latter also being the author of the prize-winning drama.

"Campobello" covers four years in the life of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the 32nd president of the United States. The years are 1921-24, during which time he was struck down by polio and battled to overcome his handicap and return to the political arena. The producers describe the play as "NON-Political."

AMONG THE leading players who will be seen on the Curran stage with Bellamy are Russell Collins, playing Louis McHenry Howe, the devoted mystic who helped shape the future president of the United States, Michaele Myers as Eleanor Roosevelt, Ann Shoemaker as Sara Delano Roosevelt, his aristocratic and somewhat domineering mother, and Alan Bunce, who portrays Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York. The play was directed by Vincent J. Donehue.

The New York Times described "Campobello" with one word, "Magnificent!"

Cancer Study To Include All Age Groups

Families to be surveyed in the American Cancer Society's living habit study this fall must include one household member over 45 years of age, Mrs. John H. Selley, chairman of the Contra Costa County survey committee, said today.

In addition to the one family member over 45, others in the household who are over 30 years of age will be interviewed, Mrs. Selley said.

The scientific study will attempt to discover why some people are more likely to get cancer than others.

THEREFORE THE AGE requirements in families to be surveyed are necessary, as age, as well as environment, occupation, and family histories are factors to be considered.

The Contra Costa chairman of the monumental survey said that families who can meet the age requirements, as well as volunteers who wish to participate in the research project, may register with her now at 2114 San Miguel Drive, Walnut Creek.

A simple attractive red and green Christmas card with the meaningful message, "money for a fancier card has been given to the American Cancer Society" is available now for ordering through the Contra Costa branch at 2030 North Main Street, Walnut Creek.

"Responding to many inquiries, we have designed this inexpensive Christmas card for those who wish to send holiday greetings to their friends, but prefer that the traditional amount spent on cards go toward something useful," Dr. Frederick A. Pellegrin, branch president, said.

"THE PRICE of the cards is for the purchaser to determine," he said.

"However, the amount usually spent for this holiday item should be kept in mind, plus the fact that all gifts will be used for cancer research and lifesaving education. A necessary minimum amount has been set at $10 per 100 cards," he said.

The cards may be ordered in quantity and may be mailed as a regulation post card, thus saving postage for the purchaser, a considerable item in large holiday mailings.

He has done commercial art work for newspapers, has sold some of his material to trade journals and has served as public relations man for the City of Sparks, Nevada, in promoting the community's Labor Day celebration.

Child Hits Car While on Bike

Michael DeCarries, 9, was taken to Kaiser hospital Sunday afternoon after he hit a car while riding his bike.

The youth, of 37 Richie Drive and a student at Diablo Vista School, was riding his bike on Boyd Road when it hit the right fender of a car driven by David S. Gerlach, 36 Mirana Court, Alamo, according to reports of the California Highway Patrol.

Officers reported that no citation was issued after the accident.

Rapid Transit OK Say Local Residents

Contra Costa County residents would welcome a modern and efficient regional rapid transit system.

This is indicated by a public opinion poll recently conducted by the opinion research firm of Facts Consolidated for the five-county Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

SIGNIFICANTLY, the poll determined that Contra Costa ranks highest of all the five Bay Area counties in the proportion of its commuters who use an automobile—81 per cent.

More than 50 per cent of the Contra Costa residents interviewed who now commute to work by automobile said they would be induced to change to rapid transit of the type now being planned.

More than 92 per cent of those persons using other means of travel said they would change.

The figures in neighboring Alameda County were 53 per cent and 85 per cent, respectively.

BY COMPARISON, nearly 47 per cent of the auto commuters in Marin County said they would switch to rapid transit; 38 per cent said they would switch in San Francisco, and in San Mateo County the figure was 45 per cent.

The survey showed that Contra Costa County also had the highest number of citizens who are acquainted with and have formed an opinion about the proposed Bay Area Transit plan. The figure was 24.7 per cent, as compared to the district average of 21 per cent.

In spite of the fact that less than 25 per cent of all Contra Costa residents had formed an opinion about the plan, the survey revealed that 19 per cent of them were in favor of it.

The number of Contra Costans favoring the plan jumped to 72 per cent after poll interviewers gave respondents a brief explanation of the proposed transit plan and statistics on Bay Area growth and congestion.

This figure compares with 78.6 per cent for the district average. Only 5.2 per cent were opposed to the plan following the explanation, and 16.2 per cent of the Contra Costans remained undecided.

CONTRA COSTA residents were firm in the belief that development of a regional rapid transit system would aid in the growth of their communities. Nearly 69 per cent answered in the affirmative to this question—second only to Marin County where a high of 73.3 per cent was recorded.

Slightly more than a quarter of the respondents said they thought such a system would have no effect on community growth, and only 1.5 per cent thought it would be a hindrance.

More than 61 per cent of the respondents in Contra Costa County agreed that their communities ought to pay a "fair share" of the initial cost of constructing the rapid transit system. Only Alameda County, with 63 per cent, and San Mateo, with 61.5 per cent, were higher.

A huge proportion, 73.9 per cent, of the Contra Costa respondents voiced the opinion that development of a regional rapid transit system should be coordinated with construction of freeways. This was only slightly below the 74.4 per cent figure recorded in San Francisco.

OF THE CONTRA Costa commuters switching to rapid transit, 34.2 per cent said they would use the system at least five times a week, and 17.5 per cent estimated they would use it at least twice a week.

The reason given by most Contra Costa commuters for using their automobiles is that present public transit facilities are "too slow." More than 28 per cent offered this reason, while another 21.6 per cent said the facilities are inconveniently routed.

Nearly 20 per cent of the Contra Costans said they were dissatisfied with present transit schedules, service and train intervals; 17.5 per cent said passenger stations are inconveniently located and require too many transfers. One quarter of the interviewees said they drive their cars to work because of necessity.

Miramonte Matadors Win First Varsity Tilt

Pacifica Laces PH Rams 27-13

The Pleasant Hill Rams took a 7-6 first quarter lead in last Friday night's game with the Pacifica Spartans and made it hold up until the half, but in the second half the roof fell in as far as the home town fans were concerned, when the Spartans scored a big 14 points in the third quarter and matched the Rams 7 in the final canto.

The Spartans' ace fullback Bill Mattson had a big night and stayed well out in front as the county's top scorer when he accounted for three touchdowns and added three extra points on cracks through the line on conversion time.

THE RAMS TOOK the lead when fullback Roger Foulk hit pay dirt from two yards out in the opening quarter. End Dick Dole grabbed a pass for the extra point with halfback Dave Shepherd doing the tossing.

The Spartans came back in with a 71 yard drive of their own to score. Quarterback Barry Nelly got off a 61 yard run and took it over on a one yard sneak.

In the third quarter, Mattson cracked the line for a pair of touchdowns and added the extra points on sweeps.

He cracked tackle for three yards and a touchdown in the final quarter and made it 27-7 when he ran over tackle for the extra point.

The Rams came scrapping back to post six more points on a touchdown pass and run good for 41 yards from Shepherd to Dole and the same combination hit on a pass for the conversion try.

STATISTICS SHOWED Pacifica with a weak passing game getting but 15 yards, but they made up for it in rushing as they netted 266 yards.

San Ramon Wolves Tumble To 'Red Hot' Mat Machine

Miramonte High School really came into its own last week.

Its rampaging varsity football team won its first game in two years of league competition by recording a hard-fought, well earned upset victory over the San Ramon Wolves, 13-0.

THE GAME, PLAYED at the Miramonte field Friday afternoon, found Coach Bob Brooks' Matadors putting up a determined defense time and time again to stifle the Danville visitors.

The Matadors' big gun was Bruce Hancock, who ran at will as he carried the ball better than 75 per cent of the time and never failed to gain some yardage.

Hancock ran the ends and cracked the line to give the Mats control of the game all the way.

LATE IN THE first quarter, Hancock started off on a pitchout as if to skirt the end, then dropped back and tossed an aerial to end Corbett Kroll, who was well down field, and it was a touchdown as Kroll went the distance untouched.

The play covered 61 yards and it was 6-0 when the conversion attempt was wide.

The other seven points came in the third quarter when San Ramon ran out of gas on a fourth down on their own 40.

ONCE AGAIN HANCOCK went to work as he carried the ball eight out of nine times to put it on the four and on the 10th play he skirted end for the six points. This time Jack Putnam's conversion boot hit the uprights but bounced in for what proved to be a lucky 13th point.

San Ramon drove deep into Matador territory on several occasions, especially in the final period when the Wolves reached the four-yard stripe, only to be contained by a staunch Miramonte defense.

The Matadors' first varsity victory was a tribute to Brooks' coaching and to the theory that the desire to win can overcome great obstacles.

ON SEVERAL occasions in the past, the Matadors were close enough to taste victory, but this time they weren't to be denied as they put out a good all-around team effort plus a standout performance by Hancock, who not only carried the mail but did his part on defense as a back and, at times, as an end.

It could well go down as the major upset of the season in the Foothill Division.

Upsets Galore Have Olde Prof Sore

By SOSS OPPLES

The olde prof is staggering from last week's upsets, but this week it's back in the groove for Soss and the crystal ball!

I'm going to start out right by picking the Air Force over Arizona, 28-0.

Washington plays at Cal and it's the Huskies, 20-6. Cal talks about an air attack each week then goes back to the meat grinding game which produces yardage but not enough touchdowns.

Southern Cal rolls on and "cleans up" on Baylor, 26-7.

Stanford goes to Corvallis to play Oregon State and wins this one, 21-20.

A sneaker finds Evansville edging Murray State, 20-19, while Navy blasts George Washington, 33-0.

On the local prep scene, Diablo cops the Contra Costa crown by bopping Pleasant Hill, 20-12.

The local scene finds Las Lomas outlasting Piedmont, 13-7. The Knights' rugged defense is the difference here.

Acalanes hosts Miramonte, and this one could be closer than the paper on the wall. Miramonte is still hungry even after last week's win—their first in varsity play. The Dons are hungry, or should be, but it's a hunch that the Matadors want this one more than the gentleman Dons. Miramonte

Knights, Scots Vie in Big Game At Piedmont Oval

The Big Game in the eyes of fans is Las Lomas and Piedmont tonight at Piedmont.

The surprising Knights have come a long way and with three wins and no losses stand atop the standings while Piedmont has a two win one tie record.

A WIN OR a tie for the Knights would give them the title. This is a "must" for the clan if they are to cop top laurels.

The Knight's forte has been a steady and consistent defense that has as yet to yield a point in league play while rolling up 60 of their own.

Las Lomas with one exception has won by a single touchdown taking San Ramon 6-0 and Acalanes 7-0. On their big splurge they snowed Miramonte 47-0.

Piedmont on the other hand is the top scoring eleven with 66 points but has yielded 34 on the scoreboard. The Piedmont eleven has the size to match Las Lomas and on paper at least appears to be much faster particularly in the backfield.

COACH BOB MUENTERS clan has a host of good backs. In Rod Church he has a converted halfback who has a lot of playing experience behind him as opposed to the Knights Bob Monir who is in his first year of play.

The aces of both backfields are their fullbacks. The clans have speedy Bobby Jones while the Knights counter with Mike Hair who has exceptional speed for a 195 pounder.

Jones at 180 is faster starting but not as hard to bring down. Both are top yardage getters.

The game will produce a duel between the two coaches in more ways than just the clubs on the field as both mentors send in the calls via means of a substitute on every play a la pro.

THE KNIGHTS tend to play a steady sound conservative game while the Piedmont club goes in for a good deal more of the razzle dazzle.

The Knights came out of last Fridays game with the Acalanes Dons in good shape and have been keying all week long for the big and final one with Piedmont.

Meet Miramonte's New Hoop Mentor, Herb Graw

The Miramonte Matadors have a new varsity basketball coach this year and as the newest member of the hoop circuit he has been busy since November 2 getting the Orinda crew in shape.

Herb Graw who coached the University of California 145 pound team the past several seasons is the new mentor who took over from Bob Callan who has taken over as Dean of Boys.

Miramonte had their best season ever last year when they wound up in a three way tie with Acalanes and Las Lomas for the hoop crown.

A host of players were lost by graduation however and the likes of John Coffey, Randy Young and Bill Houston to mention a few are difficult to replace. Coach Graw is a graduate of Berkeley High and while at Cal became a disciple of the Pete Newell system.

He has three returning varsity lettermen in Center Jack Gilbert 6'5", Guard Franke Feldman 6'2" and Milt Howe 6'2" who missed last season when he was in Germany for the fall semester but who lettered as a forward and center in his sophomore year.

YOU NEVER HAD IT SO SOFT!

We're talking, of course, about the soft, soft water that your water system (you know . . . "East Bay MUD") brings down from the Sierras.

But let's talk about hard water. Hard water doesn't lather much. Doesn't wash too well. Leaves rings around bathtubs. Keeps your hair from rinsing really clean. And so on.

This is because hard water contains an excess of minerals. The amount is measured in "parts per million." The more parts, the harder the water. You can have as much as 125 parts and still call your water "soft." Your "East Bay MUD" water? Only 20 parts!

Your soft water saves you money, too. Because it takes less soap to wash in soft water. You use less coffee per pot. Baby gets a better shampoo. Et cetera. Now aren't you glad you have it so soft?

Booklets on water? But of course!

Prep Football Season Ends Tonight

The Foothill Division of the Diablo Valley Athletic League and the Contra Costa Division of the DVAL wind up play tonight.

The Contra Costa Division will play its ninth game of the season and the Foothillers will go in their eighth contest. Las Lomas is going for the championship tonight while other central county clubs enter traditional battles.

Acalanes meets Miramonte and Pleasant Hill tackles Mt. Diablo, but the real contest is the Las Lomas, Piedmont tussle. Here's how things shape up as the season concludes.

Dons Face Tough Opponents in Eager Matadors

The Acalanes Dons will be out to wind up the season with a win tonight, but in the Miramonte Matadors they could have plenty of trouble in achieving that end.

Pre-season predictions placed the Mats at the bottom of the standings and the Dons up near the top.

TO DATE, Acalanes has a win, a loss and a tie. Miramonte has a pair of losses plus an upset win over San Ramon last Friday afternoon.

The win was the first in league play for the Orinda eleven and it gave the Matadors a terrific lift which has carried over into this week's practice—spirited sessions, to say the least.

The Dons were in the pit last Friday night with rough and ready Las Lomas and wound up on the short end of a 7-0 count.

DON ADMIRERS point to the fact that Acalanes lost to the Knights, 7-0, while Miramonte dropped a 47-0 decision to the Walnut Creek eleven. Miramonte admirers, on the other hand, point to the 13-0 win over San Ramon, whereas Acalanes eked out a 13-12 win.

Past performances have been proven time and time again to be all wrong as a method of judging when it comes to predicting the winner of a particular game. Rest assured both clubs will be up for this one as this is a great traditional rivalry.

THE MATADORS use a T-formation with the ends and one back split, while the Dons operate from the Iowa T plus variations of a spread.

Miramonte's big problem has been depth, but they were without only one player Monday, and that was tackle Jim Botto, reported laid low with a slight case of the flu, but he is expected to be ready and willing tonight.

The Dons, on the other hand, have lost the services of quarterback Don Nelson and tackle Lou Pejovich, both down with injuries from last week's fracas.

DON COACHES Bob Stevens and Buzz Williams have been working hard all week to mend the fences. The defense has been sturdy all season, but the offense has sputtered and stalled at crucial times.

The Dons hope to open new holes for fullback Stu Fox, who has been the club's most consistent performer. Plans are also being made to spring speedy Chris Rinne into the open as defenses have concentrated on him all season long.

The Don's big problem will be to stop the Mats' Bruce Hancock, who rates with many as one of the league's best backs. He is certainly the most consistent and hardest working one of the lot as he carries the ball 50 to 75 per cent of the time.

TOM STRAIN takes over at quarterback for the Dons and this could mean some long aerials as the lanky junior has as good an arm as there is among the local preps.

One thing is for sure, this rates as the Big Game for Acalanes and Miramonte.

Rams Wind Up Tonight Vs. Diablo

The Pleasant Hill Rams wind up the season tonight when they play their arch cross town rival the Diablo Red Devils but the roles are reversed from the pre-season dope sheets which placed the Rams at the top of the heap and the Red Devils well down near the bottom.

The Diablo eleven won the crown last year, but due to heavy graduation losses weren't figured to repeat.

THE RAMS ON the other hand were loaded with veterans but a series of injuries laid seven first stringers low and that marked the end of the trail as far as championship hopes were concerned as the reserve forces fell below the caliber of play necessary for wins.

Diablo has been a steady club and with such backs as Eddie Johnson, Dave Jones, Larry Bisso and Tom Brown they have a yardage eating crew. In quarterback Marty Piscovich the Red Devils have a top passer who keeps the secondary loose.

The Rams' big problem on offense is how to operate with their two first quarterbacks sidelined. Chances are they will resort to a single wing or short punt formation to make the club go.

The Rams do have a trio of outstanding backs in Roger Foulk, Dave Shepherd and Tom Webb.

FOULK WAS AN all league fullback last season and could pose real problems for the Devils. Shepherd is perhaps the leagues most underated runner although injuries did slow him down in mid-season. In addition, he has come up with a good throwing arm and will probably do most of the tossing tonight.

Tom Webb is a speed merchant and the county's 100 yard dash champ. A rounded forward wall however has furnished few openings and as a result he has been contained a good part of the time in recent weeks.

Diablo leads the Contra Costa Division with three wins and one loss and a win or a tie tonight would give Coach Hart Fairclough's charges the title for the second consecutive year.

Knights Nab 7-0 Victory to Keep Perfect Record

The Las Lomas Knights kept their league record of not having been scored upon intact last Friday night and that proved to be good enough to put them at the top of the league standings as they nailed the Acalanes Dons, 7-0.

It was a rugged, hard fought battle all the way, with a stubborn Knight defense proving to be the difference as they kept the Don offense bottled up a good part of the night.

STANDOUTS FOR the Las Lomas defensive crew were Harold Rogers, Phil Rutschow, John Reschert and Rick Miles.

In the first half, both elevens started on marches but were stopped short of the goal by stout defensive play.

A Las Lomas punt that went over the safety's head and wound up dead on the Dons' three-yard line bottled the Dons up a good part of the first half.

THE BIG PLAY came early in the third quarter when Acalanes kicked off to Las Lomas. The Knights took the ball and in nine plays drove 40 yards to the Dons' 15.

A pass into the end zone resulted in called interference on the Dons and that gave the Knights the ball with a first down on the Acalanes 8.

Mike Hair drove five yards to bring it to the three and on the next play a fake to Hair and a give to halfback Jim Sisler paid off with a touchdown.

Quarterback Bobby Morris made it 7-0 as he split the uprights with a placement kick.

THE DONS OPENED up with a spread aerial game, but it went to no avail as the Knight defense held.

Statistics gave the Knights 136 yards rushing to the Dons 32. Through the air, Las Lomas had 55 yards (six completions in nine tries) while Acalanes had 39 yards (three completions in ten tries). In first downs, it was the Knights, 9-4.

The win gave the Knights a 3-0 mark in league play, and as yet they have not been scored upon.

ONE MORE good yell is all that's left in these Acalanes High School cheer leaders this football season as they prepare to provide the school spirit for tonight's wrapup of the 1959 prep grid season. The Dons will meet an inspired Miramonte squad in the finale. Kneeling, left to right, are Rae Hermann, Sharon DeLancy and Peg Hansen. Standing are Bill Harris (left) and Jim Mossman. —Sun photo by Mattson.

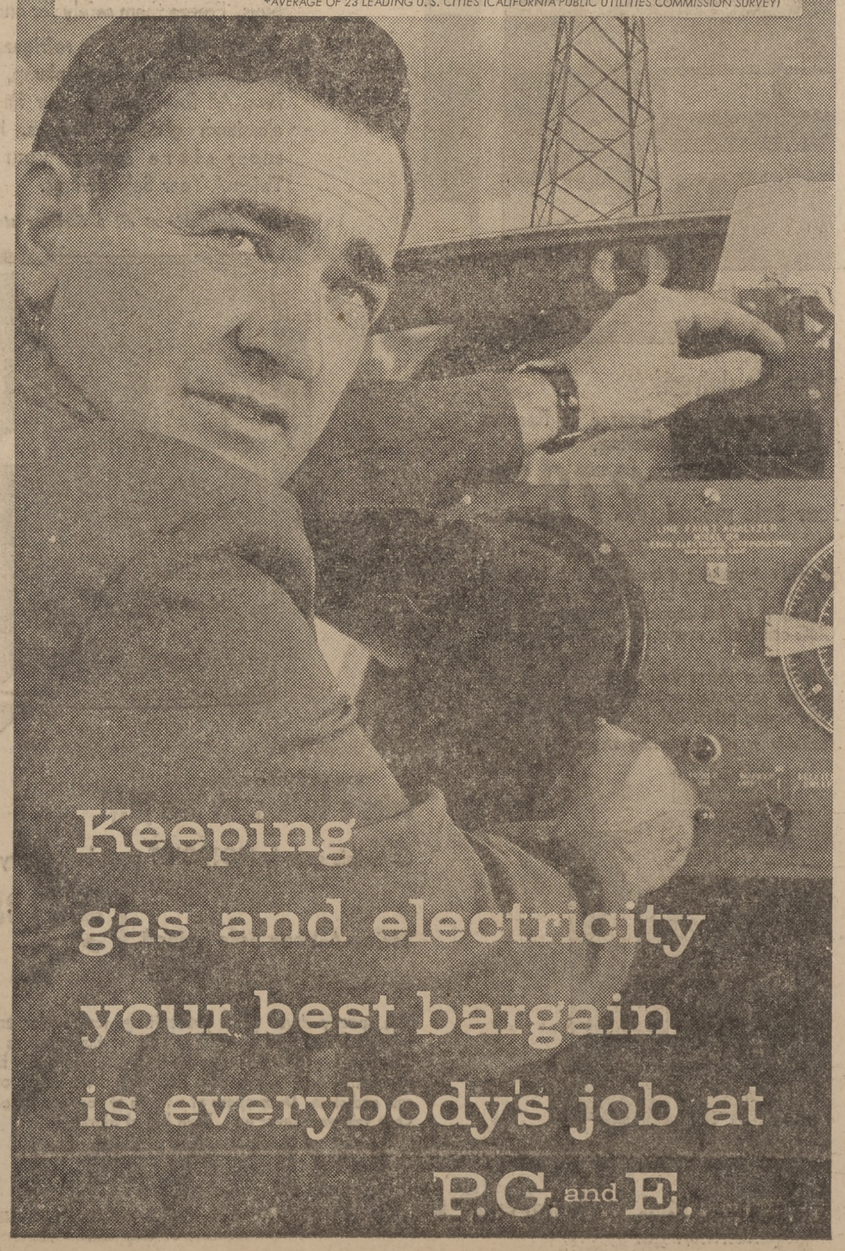
'Blackie'
DORTCH

"Radar detective" Blackie Dortch locates breaks in high-voltage transmission lines . . . electronically. It used to take hours of line patrolling to find the break. Now Blackie's equipment finds it in an instant. Repair crews, alerted by shortwave radio, speed to the exact spot in minutes, restore service much faster. Efficiency like this is one of many ways P. G. and E. holds down the price of service to you. (Our customers pay $1 for gas and electricity that cost $1.33 elsewhere.*) It's an ever-growing value, too, because you're using more of this energy each year.

*AVERAGE OF 23 LEADING U.S. CITIES (CALIFORNIA PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION SURVEY)



Keeping gas and electricity your best bargain is everybody's job at P.G. and E.

Grid Togs to Get Tossed In Favor of Hoop Briefs

By ERWIN MATTSON

Tonight marks the final round of play in softball and starting with next Monday the grid togs will be stored away in moth balls while the wrestling and basketball togs come to the fore.

Track suits will also hit the moth balls, because anyway you take it cross country is track and largely a proving ground for distance runners come spring.

I SEE WHERE Clayton Valley won the Contra Costa Division title by means of a telegraphic meet, which means that you send in the results of your meet and your time is compared with others throughout the country. Leave it to a track coach to figure that one out! At any rate, the Clayton Eagles now are holders of a National Mark and no doubt the results will be presented in the trophy case in appropriate fashion.

Two people who deserve a lot of credit for their work during the football season are head coach Bob Brooks of Miramonte and his right hand man, Don Phillips.

Their material was limited in many ways but they held faith and the kids really came through last Friday when they stopped San Ramon 13-0.

The two coaches really did a job and deserve a fine hand for their efforts. One thing certain, it won't hurt the gate tonight.

LAST YEAR'S GAME was called off when some hoodlums burned the Miramonte sign. It's to be hoped there is no recurrence this year.

The biggest problem is what to do when vandalism does occur. Somehow, it doesn't seem as if the canceling of the game is the answer. Canceling means that the teams can't play after a lot of work and preparation and secondly, a lot of people who want to see the game are deprived of it and last, but not least, it hurts financially.

Somehow, it seems that whenever vandals are caught the punishment should be heavy and severe.

In general, when they are caught the punishment is minor in nature. Perhaps a few days suspension from school, which in the eyes of those who commit such thoughtless acts is just a few more days holiday.

THE EDITOR will probably state that what we need are more dances to keep them busy and entertained. I, for one of many, can't agree because the element that engages in rowdyism isn't the one that would take part in a dance.

The interesting thing is that with very rare exceptions, it is not the athlete that is connected with such acts, but those who don't take an interest in positive things and somehow get a feeling of importance by raising cane in general and that applies to school time, outside of school and at home.

A rigid curfew and a tighter reign at home would solve 90 per cent of the problems. Cars and kids at late hours are bound to bring trouble and don't forget it's a very small percentage that causes 99 per cent of the trouble. The trouble is the small percentage makes the headlines and the innocent majority gets the black eye.

Sales-O-Rama Has Prizes For Realtors

The "Sales-o-rama" conducted by the Ralph A. Christie Organization of Pacheco has been awarding free trips to New York and Hawaii and other prizes to various members of the Contra Costa Real Estate Firm.

The contest has been an added incentive for realtors, who receive the prizes in addition to their regular commissions.

Some of the winners: Ted Clark of Orinda and Ernie Atkinson Jr. of Lafayette, trips to Disneyland; Betty McGinley of Danville, trip to Hawaii; Lenore Tiedeman of Lafayette, trip to New York.

Don Hart of Lafayette, set of tires for his car; Barbara Bates of Lafayette, office rent paid for one month; Earl Pierce of Lafayette, a double winner, and Ken Tibbetts of Lafayette, prizes not selected.

The Christie Organizations is also paying the tab when its winners take their new home owners out for dinner, Christie said.

A new contest has begun where winners between now and Christmas will receive $300 worth of Christmas gifts.

Christie builds about 100 to 150 homes in this area each year.

Christmas Seals are distributed by 2700 voluntary associations to support tuberculosis control activities.

Autographed Ball Is Dinner Award

A souvenir baseball personally autographed by Red Schoendienst will be awarded at the Contra Costa Tuberculosis and Health Association kickoff dinner tomorrow, according to Mrs. George Chapman of Antioch, campaign chairman.

Schoendienst is the national honorary chairman of the 1959 Christmas Seal campaign.

Schoendienst, Milwaukee Braves star who recently recovered from tuberculosis, presented the baseball to Mrs. Chapman. It will be used by the Contra Costa group in its only fund-raising campaign.

Red stated, "I hope that this baseball will aid in your efforts to raise funds to combat TB. I licked tuberculosis personally. Now I want to help lick it for everybody."

The Contra Costa Christmas Seal organization's kick-off dinner will be held tomorrow night, at the Walnut Bowl, Walnut Creek.

Guest speaker will be Dr. David J. Dugan of Oakland, noted Bay Area chest surgeon. Dr. Dugan's topic will be "Christmas Seals—For What?"

The public may make dinner reservations by telephone.

Tuberculosis will strike about 80,000 Americans this year. The TB associations fight spread of the disease through education, case finding, research, and rehabilitation.

Miramonte Mirror...

First Win Boosts Spirit For Matadors' Last Game

By JULE NOLLER

Tonight's football game between Acalanes and Miramonte will end the Big Game Week's festivities for Miramonte.

Noon rallies, skits, pom-pom girls, everyone wearing green and white and the pep band in action, showed Miramonte's tremendous spirit for their team in action.

One surprise thrown into the week's celebration was the all-school rally held Monday in honor of the Matadors' first varsity football win — that 13-0 victory over San Ramon.

Jeff Neighbor, head yell leader, with his assistants—Squire Fridell, Linda Williams, Michele Angelo and Sue Henry—have been the chief instigators of this enthusiasm for the school.

The car caravan which will wind its way toward Acalanes tonight will be even longer that the approximately 50 decorated cars which paraded to the Las Lomas game October 23.

A "Name the Matador" contest was also held this week as part of the Big Game festivities. Five dollars will be awarded to the person who best names the matador, Miramonte's new mascot. Enrique Antonio Lopez-Bruno, the exchange student from Spain, plays the part of the matador at all school games and rallies.

THE "MIRAMA," Miramonte's all-school variety show, was seen Tuesday night by the Orinda public. A jazz trio made up of student body president and trumpet player, Mario Guarneri; Don Minor, drummer; and Jeff Neighbor, bass player and head yell leader, got one of the loudest ovations of the evening.

A folk trio called the "Trinidads," which is made up of Bob Davis, Rollin Mack and Charles Blue, sang a few songs and accompanied themselves on the banjo, "gut bucket" and bongo drums.

A group of 1920 dancers, called the "Charley's," did a Charleston number in brightly colored flapper costumes. Enid Hennessey and Dick Miller, Skip Nelson and Vicki McKosker, Sally Holabird and Kirk Lundblad and Jerilyn Ganiats and Bob Boyle were the four couples who performed in the act.

Musical numbers made up the majority of the program and were directed by Gordon Mallory, who is head of the music department at Miramonte.

THE SPANISH CLUB of Miramonte has been pretty busy this year. One of its recent trips was a jaunt to San Francisco to see Carlos Montoya, a famous flamenco guitarist, in person.

Another busload of Spanish students was seen last month going to the San Juan Batiste and Carmel missions. After seeing the missions, they stopped at a Mexican restaurant for dinner.

The Spanish IV class is going to San Francisco to view two movies in Espanol November 20. Miss Doris Van Dam, head of the language department and Spanish teacher at Miramonte, arranged and accompanied the students on the trips.

The French Club also took a trip to San Francisco recently to see a French movie. Sweetbreads (or was it pancreas?) were served at the French restaurant where the students stopped for dinner. Suzie Lahti, Lynn Solamon, Sue Skinner, Rio Keating, Suellen Thomas and Mickey Wilbur were among the students who made the trip.

DON'T BE SHOCKED if you see hoards of "hillbillys" making their way toward Miramonte around November 20.

That day is known as Sadie Hawkins Day, where the students turn into forms of Daisy Mae, Lil' Abner and other Dogpatch characters. A Sadie Hawkins Dance, sponsored by G.A.A., will be held that evening in the gym. This time the girls will ask the boys.

FAMOUS PEOPLE in and around Miramonte . . . Representative John Baldwin spoke to the senior class about the duties of a congressman October 27. Dr. Glenn Seaborg, chancellor of the University of California, spoke to the science seminar group two weeks ago.

This week's seminar guest was Dr. Daniel Arnow, professor of plant physiology at UC.

By the way, reports from Occidental say that Dixon Farmer has already made a big name for himself in track there.

THE DRAMA CLUB is off to a big start this year. With Saundra Thurston as the new president and 50 members, they've already planned several activities and performances for the year.

He earned his engineering degrees at the University of California at Los Angeles.

John Lamberth Is In Training Tests

Pfc. John R. Lamberth, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Lamberth, 4 La Punta Road, recently participated with the 8th Division's 16th Infantry in Army training tests near Baumholder, Germany.

The tests, designed to determine the effectiveness of the infantry under simulated atomic warfare conditions, involved tanks, armored personnel carriers, helicopters and infantry units co-operating to constitute a powerful fighting force.

A machine gunner in the infantry's Company D in Baumholder, Lamberth entered the Army in September, 1958. He completed basic training at Fort Riley, Kan., and arrived overseas last March.

A 1957 graduate of Acalanes High School in Lafayette, he attended Diablo Valley College.

Vic Damone will sing with Polly Bergen in their first joint appearance on TV when the Bell Telephone Hour presents its November 20 special musical show featuring the works of George Gershwin. Also starring on the program will be Ella Fitzgerald, Andre Previn, and Marge and Gower Champion. Be sure and tune in KRON-TV, Channel 4 at 8:30 p.m. and enjoy some of America's finest music. Pacific Telephone

People who have extension telephones in their homes will tell you they're mighty handy in those rooms you use a lot. A bedroom phone, for instance, gives you a real sense of security at night—saves a lot of running around during the day when you're working in that part of the house. Why not find out about one for your home.
